Will,

Well one more year to go and then we can look forward to college (HA HA). I don't think either one of us is cut out for college. ADDING your grade point average with mine we still couldn't get a straight "C". Who knows, we might get married so I won't have to go to college and you'll end up being a body guard for the "Mafia". I'm amazed you got through the year without getting into trouble with "NANDO" considering all the shit you were getting into. Let's hope you can survive next year by getting ^{"Real"} an job and staying out of Tijuana. Those trips must have been fun but you almost got yourself into a lot mess with the stuff you brought back. (Just kidding) You would never do anything illegal; So would you. Next time you go down there give me a call and I'll go with you so you can show me the ropes on how to make quick money.

See ^{me} ya later +

Diversity

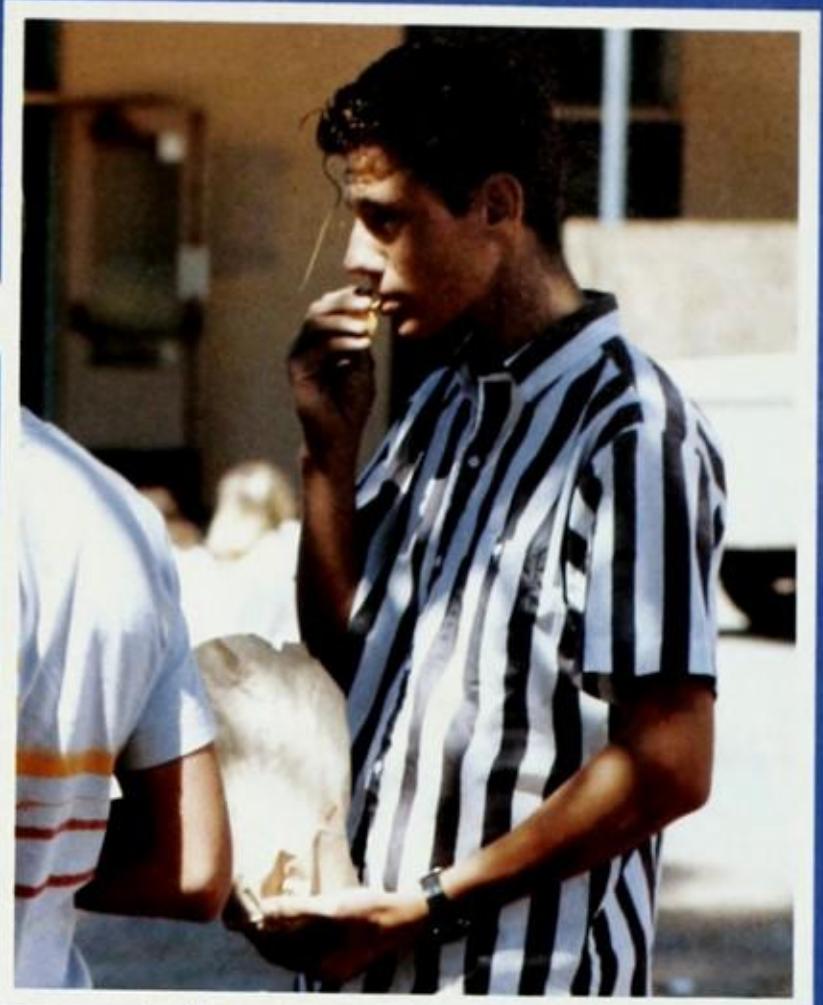

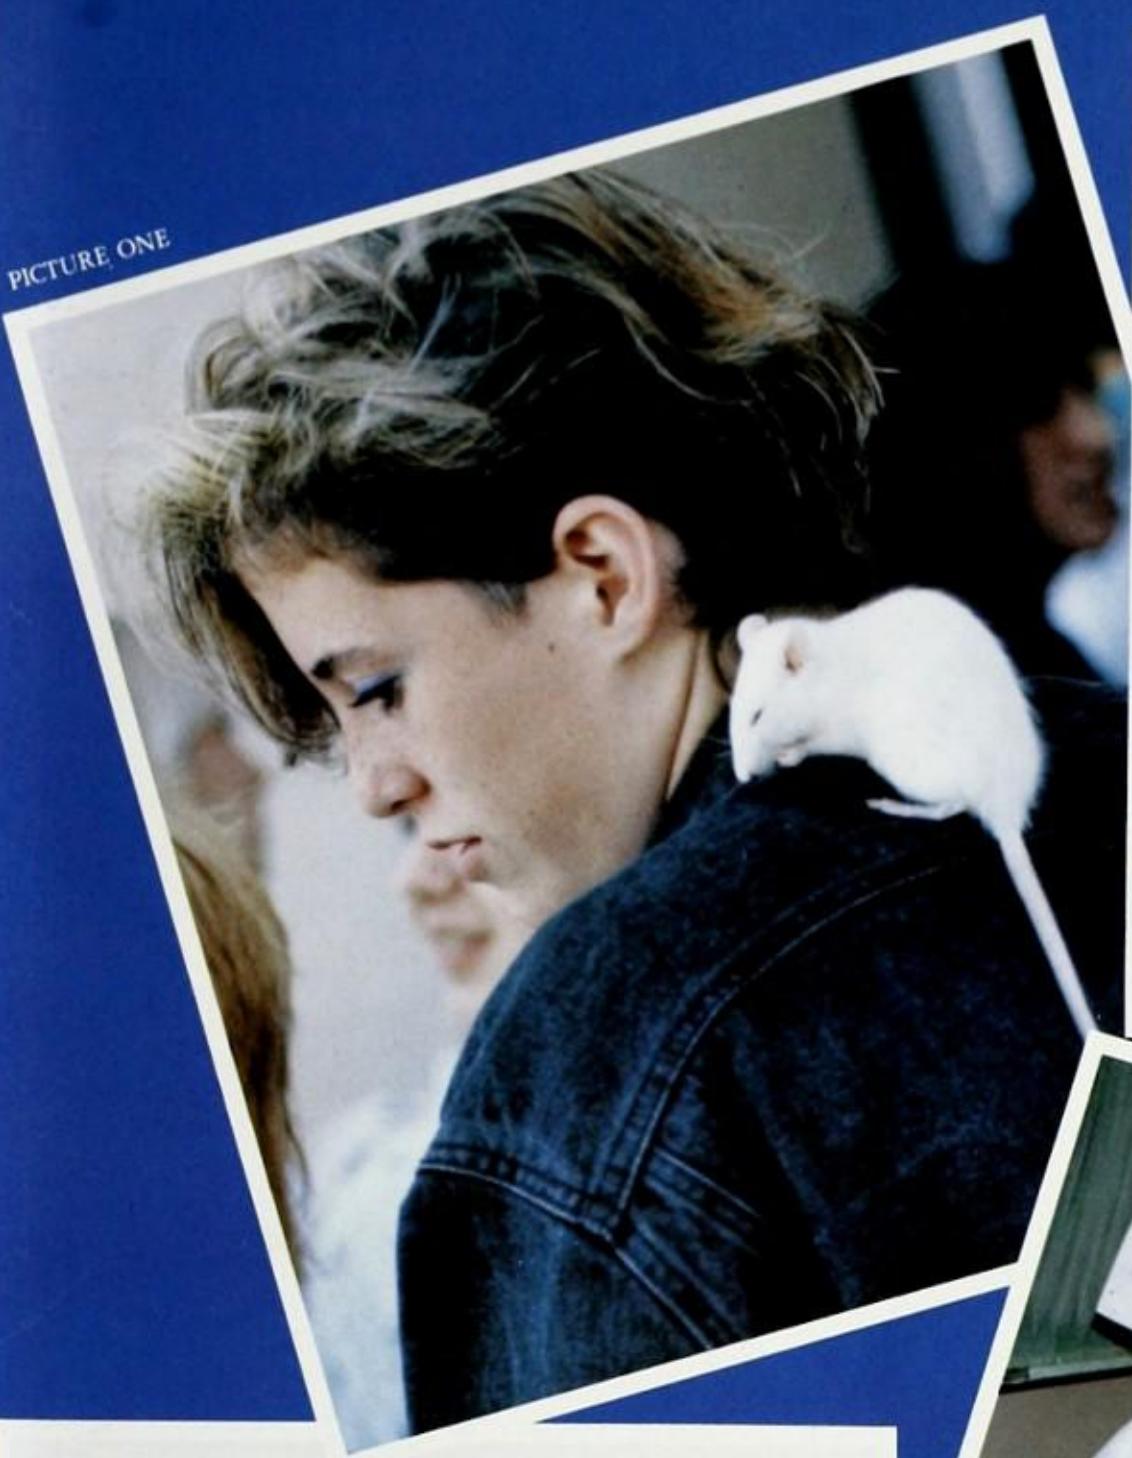

It's a fact of life that everyone is different. S.R.H.S. students are no exception. How can one explain the differentiating factors that give our school its diverse appearance? While on the surface our differences are obvious through our styles, speech and actions, they go deeper than that. Spending seven hours a day with the same people for four years, one would come to expect that we know practically everything about one another. The truth is, while we share many experiences with our fellow students, we actually know very little about each other. Looking through an old yearbook, can we truly see the real people behind the old photographs? Do we really know these people? To completely recognize and understand our school's diversity, we must take a closer look at our most important aspect . . . ourselves.

1. ". . . You put yer right foot out . . . And you shake it all about!" Kirk Martin expresses his true dancing talent.

In Class

San Rafael High doesn't look very different at first glance, but after taking a closer look people agree that our school is quite unique.

- The drama class put aside their rivalry with Terra Linda High and staged the musical THE BELLS ARE RINGING as a joint effort, with outside coach Greg Phillips.
- Looking closer at our Industrial Arts department shows Mr. Costello, Auto Shop instructor, driving a fully restored red 1947 Chevrolet Coupe.
- In the main hall, the art classes kept an ever changing display of their most promising student's work for all to see.

On Campus

The Senior Tree from where the Class of '87 ruled. The cafeteria where they served "food". These are both a part of the S.R.H.S. campus, but looking closer one discovers that it was nothing but the people that made our campus special. At lunch some people caught up on the latest gossip while stuffing their lunches into their mouths. Others sat in the library cramming for the test that would either save or ruin their grade. Still others vegetated in the sun, allowing their minds to wander to the wonderful tunes of KSRH. These scenes were normal happenings of our campus. Surrounded by friends, we were sure that even though we were getting an "F" in Physics, campus life would steadily go on. And it did.

1. "Didn't I see this in a scene from The Fly?" wonders Jim Meyers.

2. "No way, I'm not waiting in that snack bar line!" -Sloan Van Dam

The Social Side

This year's Senior class was the epitome of the "social butterfly". They were the conversation giants of the '80's, especially during class. Setting the scene of what was cool and what was not, no Senior ever had to ask, "Hey, what's going on tonight?" They knew. Partying together, working together, they could always count on each other for the serious and the fun times. The Seniors were social and they were cool, but most of all they were friends.

The Studious Side

How many times during the past four years have you seen a member of this year's Senior class scribbling furiously to get that English paper or French composition finished in as little as five minutes before it was due? Yes, it's sad but true, this was the studious side of the class of '87. That's not to say this class has had a below average academic status, but quite the contrary. Despite these efforts of procrastination in all things academic, this year's Seniors continued to produce excellence.

Hard work and dedication were not new to '87's Seniors, it was obvious to everyone that this class would go far. Believe it or not for all the partying, soap opera watching and other endless amusements this class has something to be proud of, a promising future.

The Last of Our Kind

Never was there a time of more fun or frustration. The S.A.T.'s, the applications, the parties and the laughs. The philosophy of life was, for some: "Homework?", for others, "SLEEP! I need sleep!" and still others just plain, "Huh?". We were the reigning Seniors of 1987 and although it seemed like we had just said hello, we soon realized that we were about to say goodbye. Whether we admitted it or not, mixed with the complaints of "Senioritis" was the sadness of leaving the people we had spent most of our lives with . . . the friends that had meant so much. We were the last of our kind, and although the memories will never be the same as the living, they will have to suffice.

" . . . this is the time to remember, 'cause it will not last forever; these are the days to hold onto, 'cause we won't, although we'll want to . . ." -
Billy Joel

HOMECOMING PARADE—

Homecoming was an extravaganza to remember with spirit engulfing the streets of San Rafael; red and white colored the vicinity of San Rafael High. Talented bulldogs romped and danced onto Miller Field where the parade judging commenced.

The crowd hummed with anticipation of the upcoming events. Children laughed, bulldogs barked, and Nando paced anxiously. The junior class sat ostentatiously confident of their victorious float. Michele J. Ruffino enthusiastically joined the cheerleaders in their vigorous efforts to spread spirit awareness. Then all eyes turned to the snack bar. There standing guiltily was Julie Smith, caught purchasing pom poms from a money raising cheerleader. Julie was quoted as saying, "I want to be a cheerleader too. Just like that vivacious girl, Michele J. Ruffino."

Toward the end of the parade the traditional alumni float came rolling on in. The junior class lived up to their creative reputation by building another phenomenal float, depicting the Drake Pirates on a sinking ship.

The judges collaborated and the general consensus was "the Junior Class wins." Yes, they won.

A Winning Combination

Not quite as rich as Prince Charles and Princess Di, but just as good. The Royal Couple of 1987 is the classiest yet, representing San Rafael with true dignity. But the "red carpet treatment" was hard won; a veritable battle of extra-curricular activities and GPA'S. Combining their forces, Debbie Bush and Bob Contini have participated in: student government, athletics, spiritleading, clubs and possess an incredible amount of brain power. The king and queen are just one symbol of pride for San Rafael High.

"We were both very surprised!" says King Bob Contini and Queen Debbie Bush, smiling sweetly.

All Night Long

As the year rolled around, so did the traditional "Red and White Cavalcade". The show was performed on December 4th and 5th and had a number of individual MCs; including Scott Winner, Dave Gershick, Miguel Escobedo, and, of course, Tom Truchan.

This year's talent was truly widespread, ranging from fast moving dance numbers, singers, humorous Monty Python skits, serious musicians, and some not-so-serious musicians. One act that really got the audience into the show was Brynda C. Foster and some of her students. Victor Graham, Jeff Royle, John Scocca, and David Lange, along with Brynda C. Foster, sang and played a wonderful rendition of the Beatles' "Yellow Submarine". Victor Escobedo, a graduate from the class of '86, returned to help MC the show. Victor did his, now famous, "Numbers" for the lucky spectators.

The first performance of the Cavalcade was a rough one, with the show lasting a good three and a half hours! Along with the individual acts that made up the Cavalcade, Tom Truchan, the show's organizer, managed to refine the show and speed up its production. Their hard work paid off with a superb second performance the following night.

Each year the faculty has surprised audiences with original and extremely funny skits, and this year was no exception. The act was titled Ballet Bizarro and with good reason. Nando Llacuna displayed his true dancing ability along with his partner Sue Ann Joy. The thing that singled this couple out was that Mr. Llacuna wore the blue tu-tu, while Mrs. Joy presented herself in a man's style shirt with fake glasses and a fake nose.

The overall outcome of the show was considered a huge success, with the performers raising over $1400 for the SRHS Creative Arts Committee. Those who missed the show, missed a lot.

Inherit the Wind

When a show has to turn people away at its doors, one can assume that the show's a success. This year's production of "Inherit the Wind" was one such show, with a full house every night.

A fresh approach was used by the director in having certain members of the audience play jury members. This proved to be a different way of keeping the audience involved with the action.

All in all, the SRHS Drama Dept. outdid themselves with something they could be proud of.

King Festival

On Jan. 9, 1987, students from all over Marin County joined together at the Civic Center to pay tribute to Martin Luther King, Jr.

Students from SR, as part of the show, demonstrated what the messages of MLK meant to them. The audience was moved by a realistic monologue done by Tracy Fitt. Her portrayal of a black student in the South brought tears to the eyes of several people.

The celebration ended with a walk around the lake to remember the original walk led by MLK. Let's not forget why we celebrate this great man's birthday.

The Bells Ring of Success

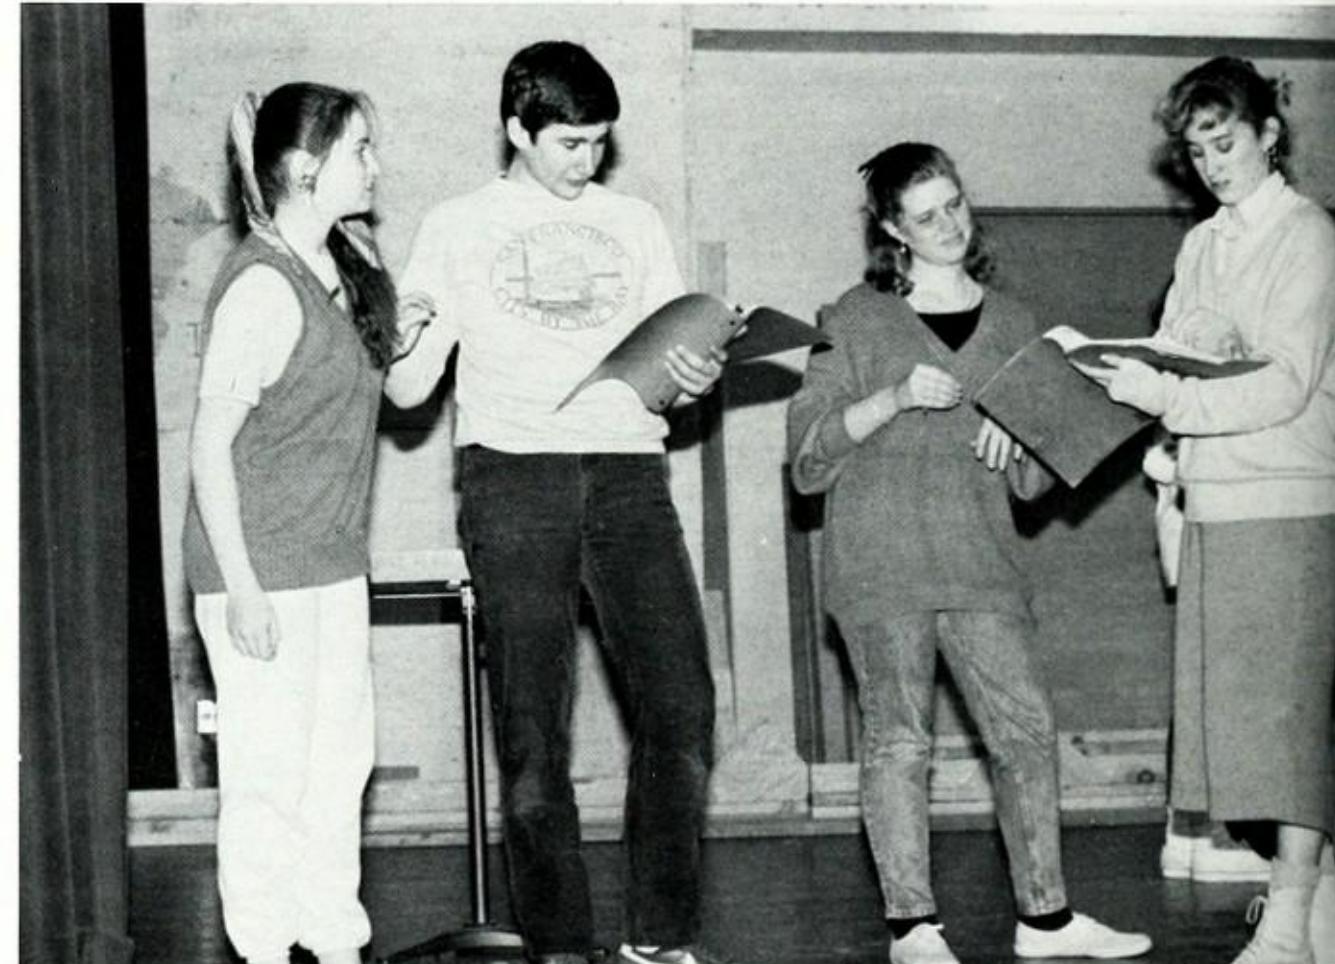

The production of The Bells are Ringing this year was a collaboration of the talented students from both San Rafael and Terra Linda High. With an overwhelming number of talented students auditioning for the same parts, Greg Phillips found it hard to turn any one of them down. Being the Director of Youth Activities for the Marin Symphony Association and having several smash hits accredited to his name, the act of making the show a double-casted production was nothing Greg couldn't handle.

The production staff had some new faces than from the previous years, with Ellie Mednick, their wonderful Choreographer and Bob Calonico, the Music Director for Terra Linda. Byron Jones, a retired teacher from San Rafael, came back once again to be the Voice Coach to the singers. He did an unforgettable job with all the students.

With the majority of the lead characters being played by different actors and actresses, each show was as individual as the next. No one could predict the shows' outcome.

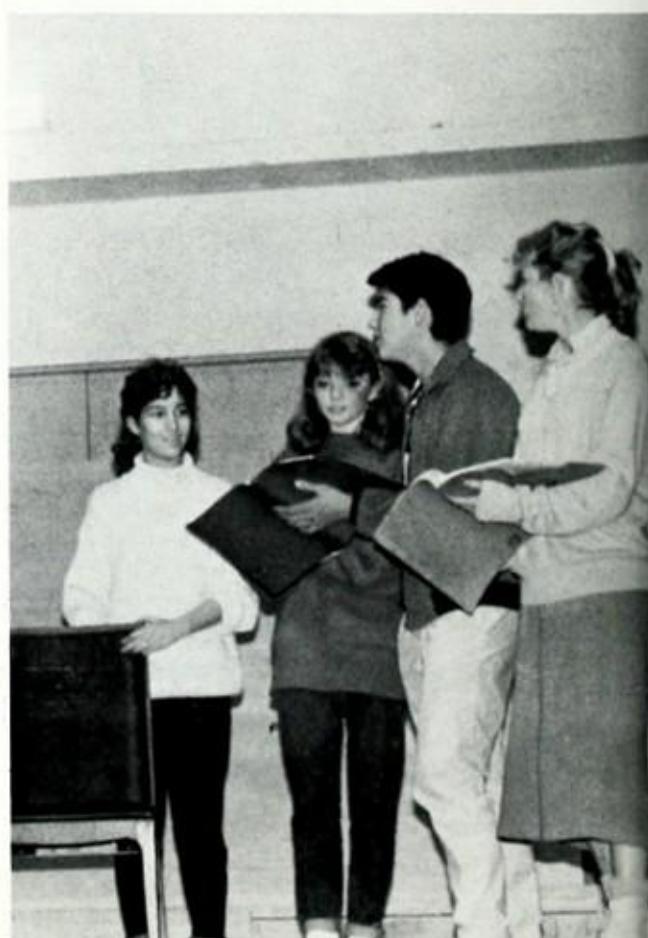

All in all, the show was truly one to be remembered. The cast enjoyed its chance to get to know each other. New friendships were formed throughout the long, but fun rehearsals.

BULLDOG

RHAPSODY

The Music Department is run by the facilitator Carl Johnson, who lives in the East Bay. He leaves the comforts of his warm home at 6:20 in the morning, to drive across the bridge, and face a class that the students themselves are wondering why they got up for such an early event. Orchestra is the class for people who want an early day, and are eager to play in a music class, but can't fit it into their schedule. Yawning and stretching, the class miraculously comes alive, filling the entire building with their moving tunes, and no-one but themselves to enthral and enjoy the classic melodies.

Concert Band is the next class in line for the day, giving people a chance to play an instrument at a decent hour.

Jazz Ensemble, (the real name of the class), is for the student who likes fast moving, and dancable tunes.

Choir is the one and only class in the music department that doesn't require the person to play a musical instrument.

Originality

Complete Disorder is one of the many bands at San Rafael High. What makes them unique is their personalized equipment and party van. Steve Korbay takes a peek as Jake Johnston and Steve Merritt argue a small matter.

Beach Action

Probably the most popular of all weekend activities is "catching the rude waves" at the beach. In the case of Michelle Zolezzi and Darcy Dickey, rays and sand filled hot dogs seem to be the trip. Gritty sodas are always fun too.

From the Past

Exploring the bunkers on the Marin Headlands is a fun change from your usual movie weekend. These bunkers range from tall towers to houses and underground tunnels. Most are open to the public so you can freely poke around them. Some doors are metal covered, bolted, and reinforced. This is mainly to keep people out, but there is always someone who will find a way in. If one just wants a quiet place to go, there is a beach below and grass all around. Rediscovering the bunkers can make a quiet and beautiful weekend hangout.

Unforgettable Melodies

"Don't be afraid of a life,
It's not like a moment in time.
Now almost everything's right,
Just one more day for tonight."

-Adrian Gutierrez

There are so many things that can be said about Adrian. Although he didn't seem to know it, he brought warmth into the lives of many people with his off-beat sense of humor and his quick smile. Underneath all that, Adrian was deeply sensitive. There are some things that perhaps we will never know about him, but we will always have Adrian's music, the product of his inner emotions, to remind us of him. Adrian lived through his music. To his piano and guitar he told his secrets, and creating haunting and unforgettable melodies. Forever more, music will be more than just music to us. Forever more, the name Adrian will be more than just a name to us. It will be a word signifying all of the precious things that Adrian was. We must now dedicate ourselves to reaching out to others, to pushing away loneliness, so that no one need write sad songs. And each time we touch a soul, we will be letting Adrian know that he is not alone anymore. We are forever with him.

So my mind could rest awhile
I could ease the pain.

See, Joe you are gone now,

But you know that I'll be praying
So you can live in the skies.

I feel the pain and it won't stop,
Our tears could tell you that.
I'm confused, so are my feelings,
I'll be scared, then I'll be sad.

DEAR MOM

The word is rather common;
It's heard almost every day.
But with certain individuals,
It can be filled with special praise.

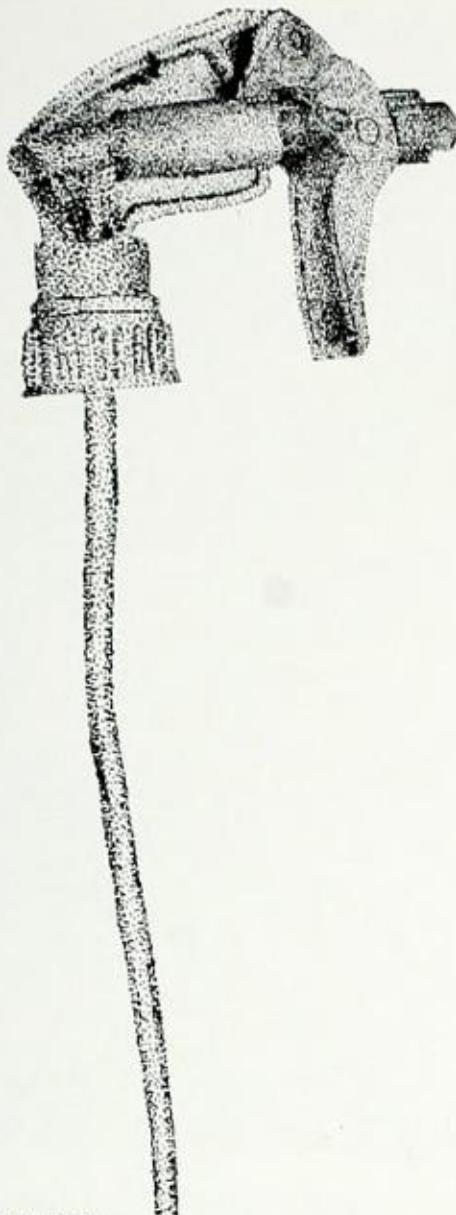

As I started my life,
You're the first person I saw.
You appeared gentle and shy,
A person without a flaw.

You never showed displeasure,
When I managed to do wrong,
'Cause you knew it was so normal,
You helped me get along.
With troubles of my childhood,
That meant so much to me.
You proved that things would be alright.
You stayed and were my company.

It's now been eighteen years, or so,
That we have been together,
And I thank YOU for sharing your life with me.
You are my greatest treasure.

I love you, I love you,
And there will never be another.
I thank God for giving me to you,
My one and only mother.

Of the best days
A time for celebration
They celebrate their freedom due them
It finally has come.
Just don't forget ...
They were the best days of your life.

I am the sunlight on ripened grain
I am the gentle autumn rain

FLOWERS ON YOUR GRAVE

Flowers on your grave
Where you are soldier?

Flowers on your grave
Are you back in your childhood
Reliving those numbered days
Over and over again
Trying to change your destiny?

Flowers on your grave
Or are you in training camps
Building your body
And training yourself to be undefeatable
When there are already
Flowers on your grave?

Do you know that while you are sweating
And shells are flying from your war tool
That your body is already mutilated
That your body is already ash

In front of the flowers on your grave
There is a white cross
Behind the flowers on your grave
Are white crosses
On all sides of these white crosses
Are other white crosses
And these white crosses shout loudly
All over this green countryside

Once upon a time in 1, there lived 2. He/she lived with his/her 3 in a 4 5.

One day a 6 was flying overhead when all of a sudden the 6 crashed.

7 rushed to the scene of the accident where he/she saw 8 lying unconscious.

7 carried 8 for awhile and took him/her back to his/her 5. On their way to the 4 5 they met a 9. Now this 10 9 was 11 on some 12. When the 9 saw them he saw that 8's 13 was broken. 9 and 7 fixed-up 8's 13. Afterwards 8 offered 7 a drink of 14.

7 said, "Thank you" and went back to his/her 4 5. Just another day in 1.

Happily Ever After

1 was walking down the 2 one day on her/his way to 3, when all of a sudden, 4 saw a(n) 5, 6 7. 8 at the 7, 4 11 down the 2 to a 12. In the 2 she/he found a 13 and she/he asked it for help. The 2 asked 4 what was wrong. She/he told him that 10 was after her/him and she/he needed to hide. The 13 14 gave her/him some 15 to calm her/him down. 4 took the 15 and said 'Thank you'. The 13 hid her/him in his 12 until the horrible 10 went away. Thankful to the 13 for helping her/him, 4 agreed to marry the 13. The 13 kissed her/his 16, and they lived happily ever after.

CLASS OF '88

The Junior class had another successful year. Not only did they win first prize in the Homecoming Parade for the second year in a row, but they also managed to put on some very successful fundraisers.

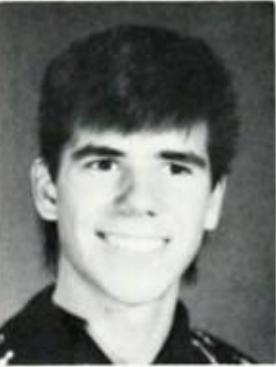

Their illustrious 1st annual shrimp fest was definitely a high point in their school year and the 2nd annual shrimp fest is already being planned for next year.

Our Centennial class has worked, played, and stuck together successfully over the past three years. As seniors, next year should prove to be our best ever.

Climbing out of the cage where they belong, are class officers Baltazar Guzman, Kate Kerner, and Scott Stewart.

Miss you, miss you, miss you
All the things we do

And the voice of you
You are on every corner
Every turn and twist

Miss you, miss you, miss you
Oh, I miss you, Joe
There are all my memories
Standing in a row
Everywhere there is shadow
Of your friendly face
That's of a type of reality
Everywhere displace

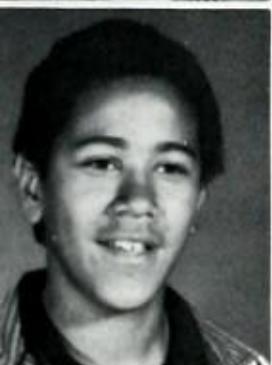

I miss you, how I miss you, Joe
There is a strange sad silence
Because I love you so . . .

Miss you, Miss you, miss you
Nothing seems so true
If only that was Heaven
And the friendships I've had with you

I love you, Joe

Class of '89

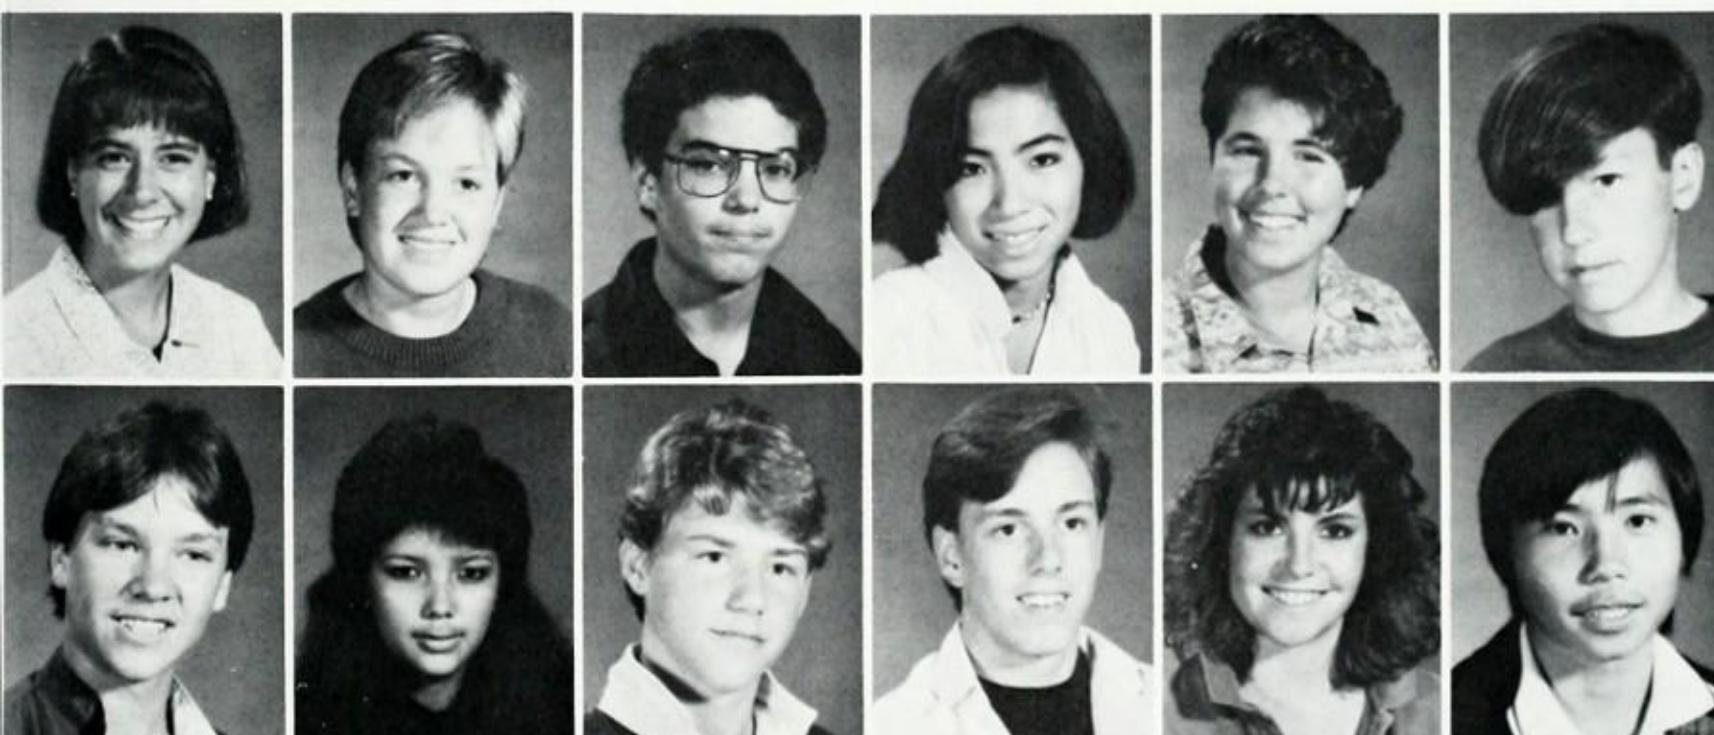

During spirit week, Sophomores had "Era day". So, it was easy to recognize them. They were dressed in a range of costumes from flower children to Charleston dancers. The majority of the class, though, dressed as they normally would and proclaimed that they were still in costume (the '80's era, of course!).

The Holiday Faire was cancelled by Mr. Llacuna due to a "lack of organization by the Sophomore class." That's O.K.-tenth grade leaders got it together and learned from their mistakes, and put together this year's big Spring event.

WHAT IF

The Science Department has just perfected its model spaceship. They need a test pilot for the trial run and are offering an "A" to any student willing to go up. You really need that "A" because your mom has promised you that convertible rabbit that you want so badly. You reluctantly take the test that will qualify you to be on board the ship. After thinking about it you realize that you really don't want to go up. So during the day of the test you goof off and make patterns with your answers on the scan-tron sheet. The next day you casually stroll by the result sheet and find that you were chosen. While still in shock you are congratulated and asked, "Who would you like to have go up with you?" The trip will be three weeks long.

Unfortunately your ship did not fly for the predetermined time span. You crash land on a deserted island. It is a seemingly island paradise, but you are stuck there. Thankfully you have your companion and neither of you were hurt. While looking over the island you find a dusty bottle which when rubbed frees a genie. You are granted three wishes. You automatically waste two on luxuries, a feast and a 1987 Ferrari. What will you third wish be? You've been informed that your wish can only move you 50 ft.

So now you've been on this island for almost a year now. You have not much with you except for your companion and the products of your wishes. The island has provided you with food and will most probably continue to do so as long as you continue to live there. While sunbathing one day your companion notices a ship on the horizon. You thank God rush out to the launch sent out by the ship. You are greeted in Russian. You try to explain that you want to get back to America, they don't seem to understand. After a thoughtful moment you inform your companion that you have no idea where you are. If you ask the Russians to take you back with them, there is a possible chance of never reaching the States. Now the big question, do you go with the Russians or do you stay on the island?

Mindy Buocristiani looks disgusted as she slowly turns around.

HIGH SPIRITS

The Freshmen class of 1990 was a very spirited class. We came into high school afraid, worried and, worst of all, freshmen! By the end of the year, we were brave, courageous, and sophomores.

Our freshmen football team took third place, and our float took third place in the homecoming parade.

We were a very strong class with many ideas, and we put these ideas to use to become better people and have a better school.

KICKING BACK ?

A new school; new teachers; new subjects. Freshman, struggling through their first high school year, are often accused of spending the year, "Kicking back", because their first year little effects their high school records. Whether this is true or not, the Freshman were often shocked at the amount of work encountered in their World History, Health Ed., English, and Mathematics courses. As in all grades, some Freshman thrived in their high school environment, while others found their life becoming increasingly difficult.

The Exchange Program-

Everything started a year and a half ago. One of my friends that I was working with was going away that year. I thought it must be fun to try something new, so I applied for the next year. Because then I would be done with 2 years of business college. (The business college I went to was only for 2 years.) So it was a good time for me to do it.

Everything was great. You Americans are a lot different from us Norwegian, you are a lot more loud than Norwegians. Most Norwegians are boring and shy.

I live in a place called Stavanger with 200,000 people. My greatest hobby is skiing. In Norway I am a ski instructor. The place where my friends and I ski is an hour and a half of driving from my place. I hope I will be able to swim on the school team because I like swimming.

-PAUL ALBERTSEN

Coming to the United States was a good experience for me. Hopefully, I've improved my English and learned a lot about this country, for example about all the differences between Germany and the U.S. Because of all these differences I had some difficulties adjusting to a new way of life during the first time, but it came out quite well. Also, all the people, especially my classmates, were very nice and friendly, they helped me a lot especially during the first couple days and weeks.

The thing I liked most at San Rafael High was that there was so much more spirit than at my school at home. School in Germany is really boring, you just go there to learn. Well, I enjoyed the 4 months while I was here, and I hope I can come back in the future.

For the kids who didn't get to know me, I was born in Germany and live there. My brother is 14 and my sister is 6. My hobbies are sailing, volleyball, tennis (but I'm not very good at it) and building remote control planes and let them fly.

The Experience Of a Lifetime

San Rafael High School had welcomed me with open-arms, something that I never expected. I was elated at how well the many different cultures could mix and relate. Although my academic year here was less than challenging, I enjoyed many new experiences.

Some of these experiences have given me new insights into American culture as one can never really learn about a differnt lifestyle before emersing themselves into it fully.

San Rafael High School did a great job of welcoming us (the exchange students) into the system.

-RAQUEL GONZALEZ

When I came to California about four months ago, it was as if entering an entirely new world—I wouldn't have guessed how different the United States was from Europe.

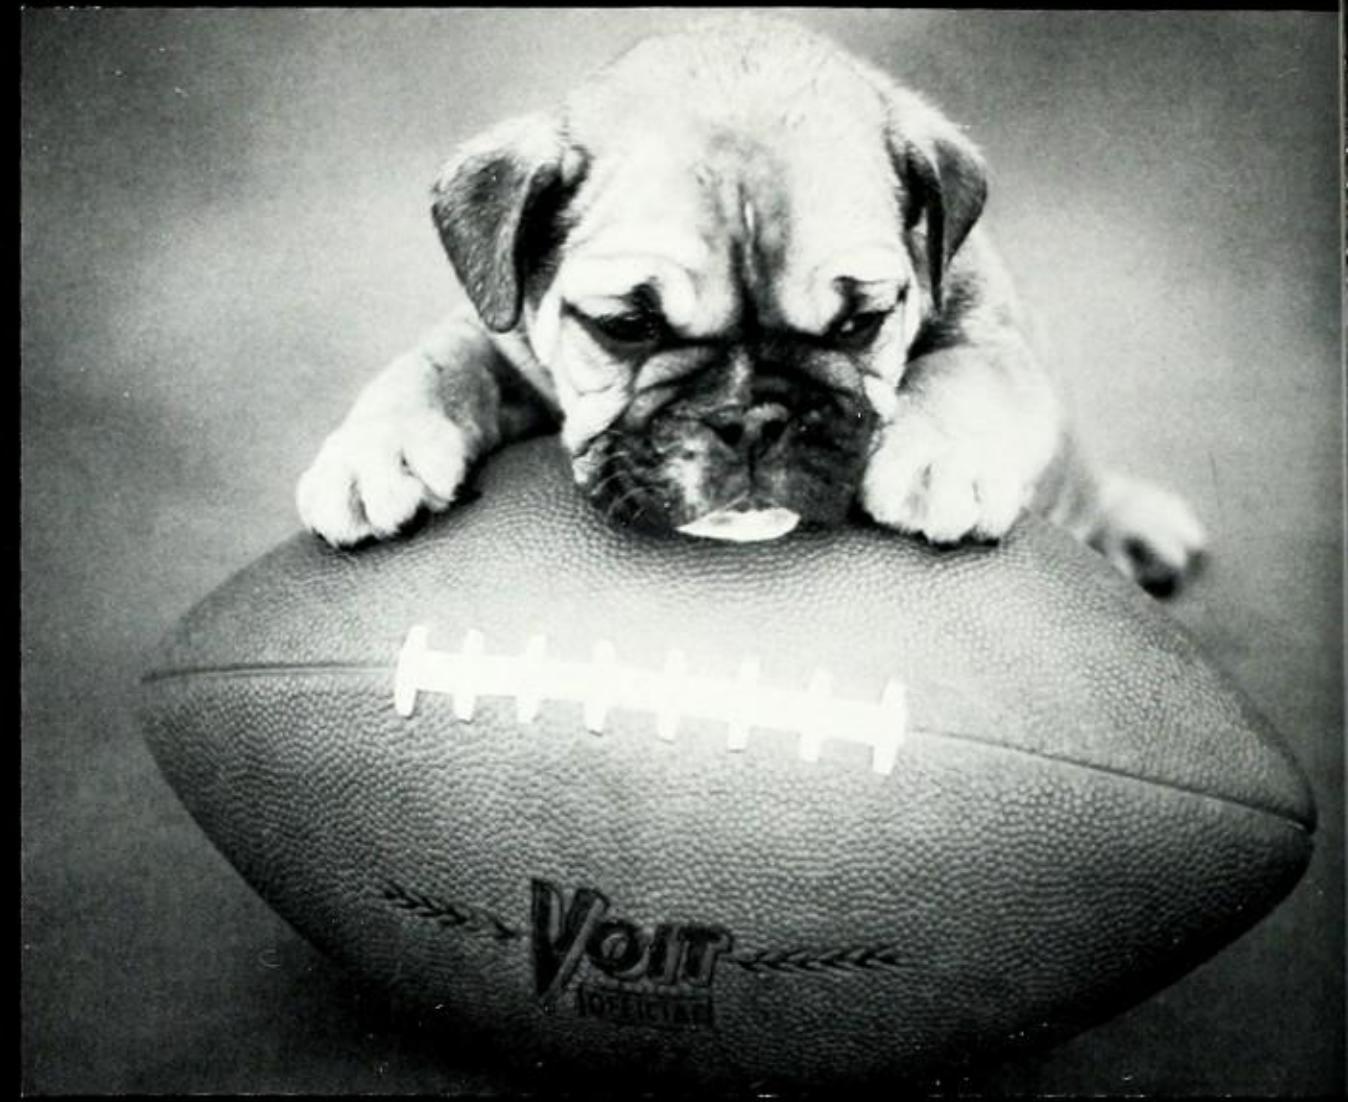

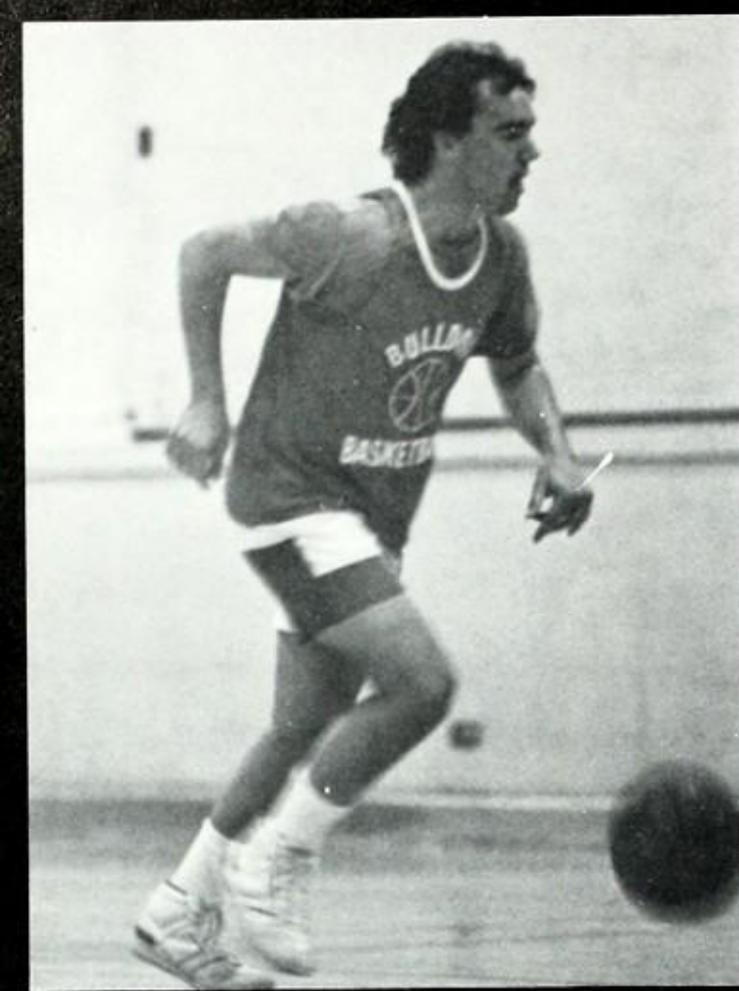

Everything was new and exciting e.g. I could have spent all day just watching people or the cars on the highway. San Rafael High School also was a new experience for me: I noticed a lot of differences in the attitudes teachers had towards their students and in what was expected from you as a student. As a result of the different school system, I feel that America high schools help you to get a positive attutude and let you feel that you can succeed in life, where as European schools can be a very frustrating experience.

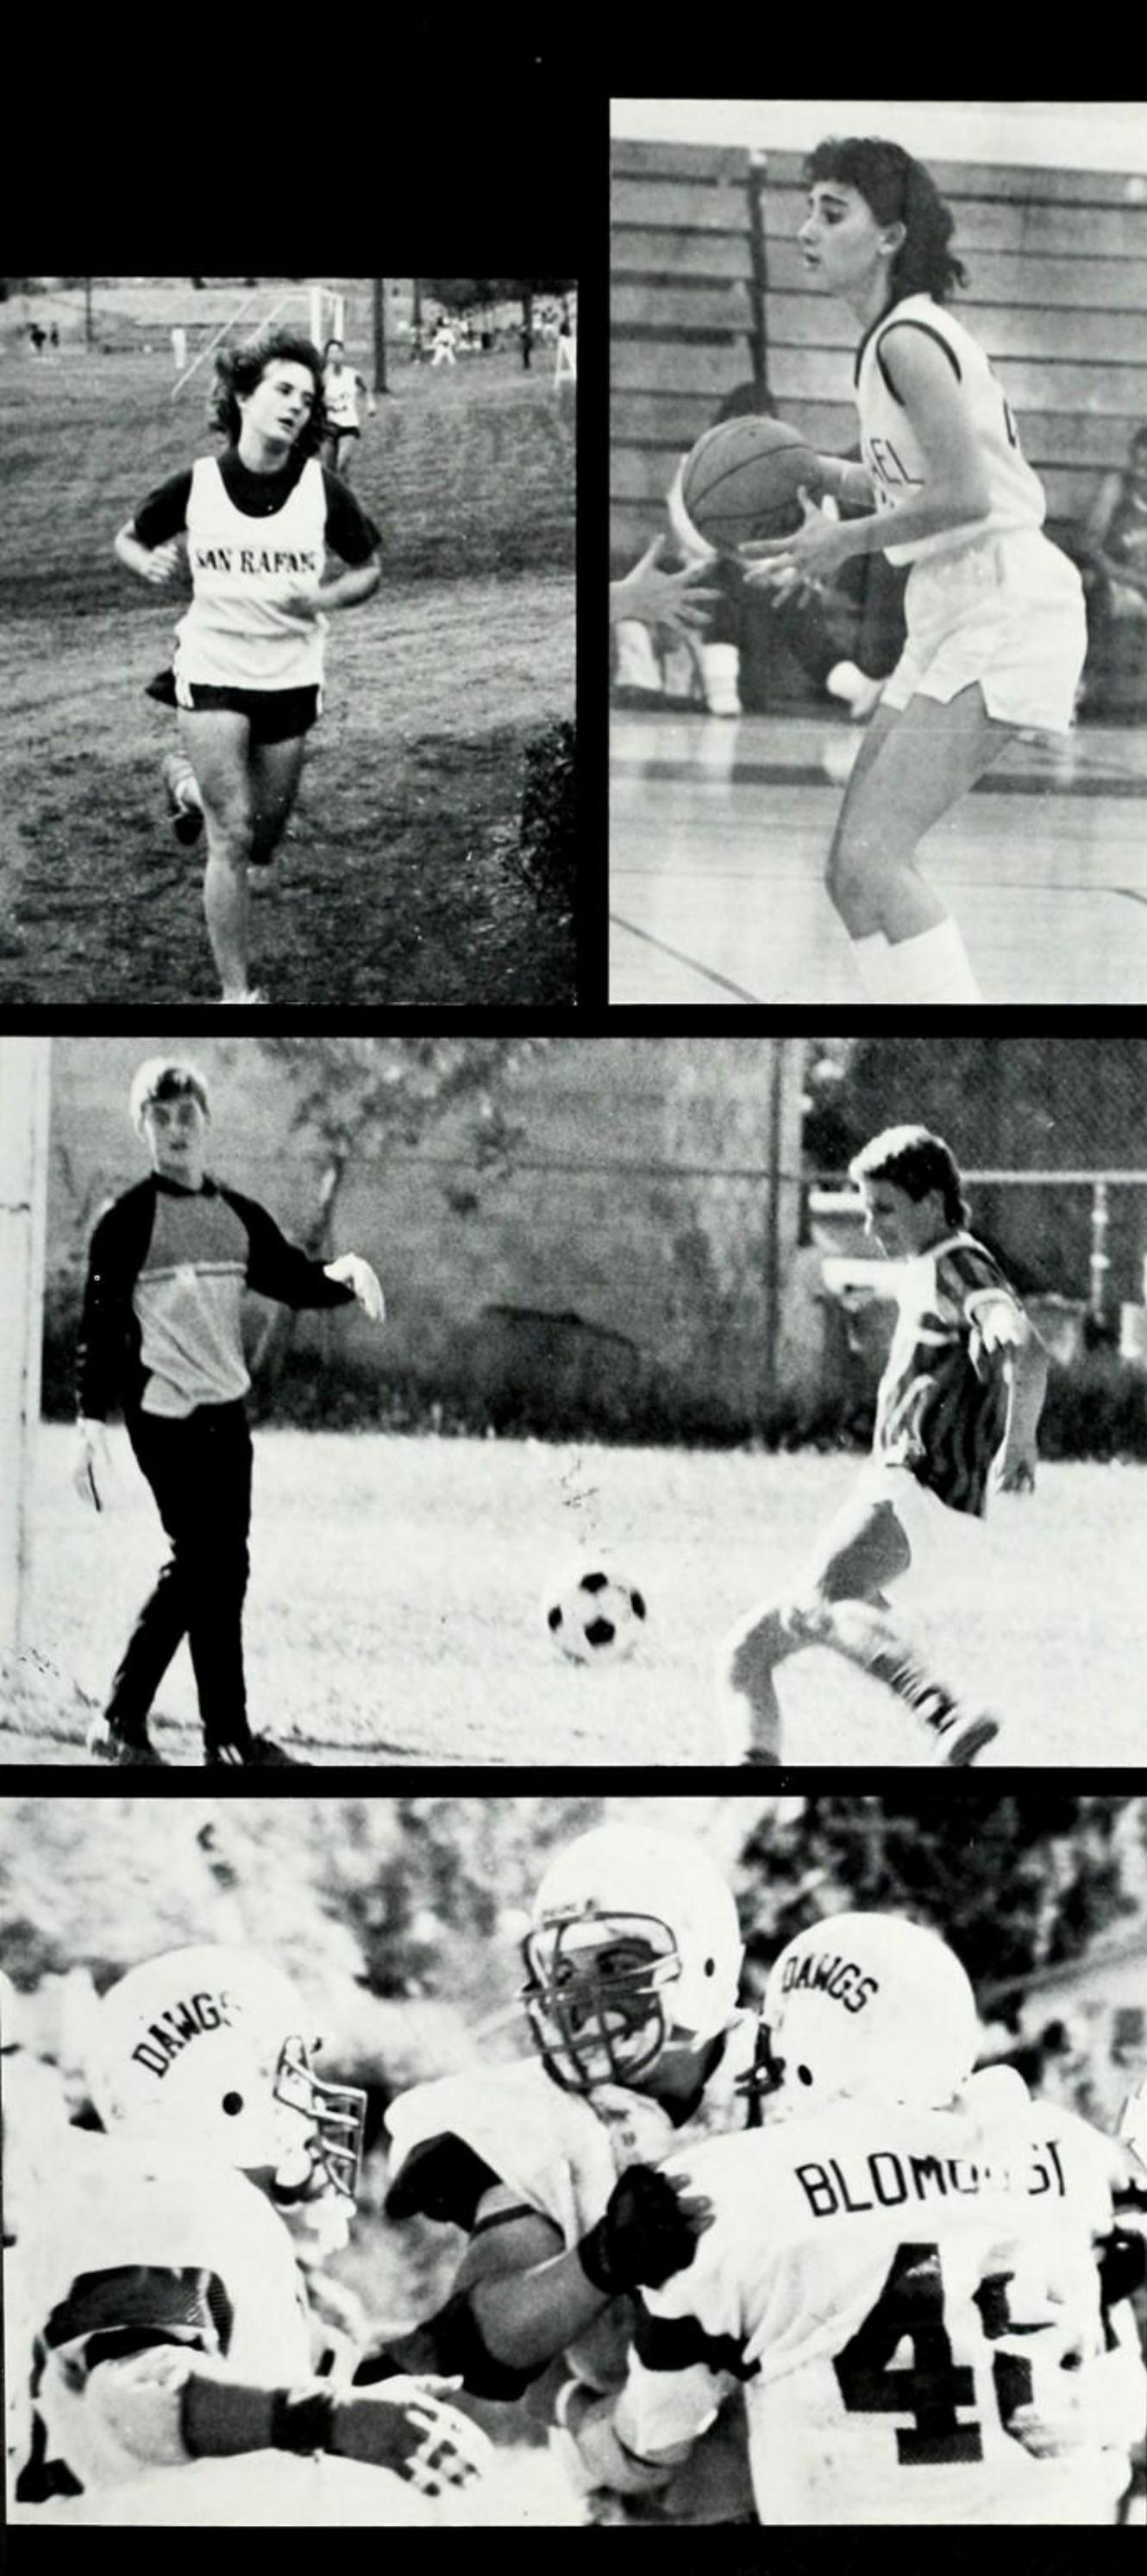

There were a lot of acitivities going on in American school and, to me, San Rafael High was more like a fun place than like an academic institution. Students and teachers here are a lot more spirited!

I grew up in a small town in Northern Germany and there were hardly any foreigners—only Germans and a couple of Danes.

I really enjoyed the international atmosphere at S.R.H.S. Thanks for giving me a good time.

DAWG DETERMINATION

The 1986 season for the varsity Bulldogs was full of victories as well as some disappointments. The team always played a well planned game coming through to defeat Redwood, Richmond, Harbor from Santa Cruz, Drake and Tam; losing only to Terra Linda, San Marin and Novato. The Bulldogs finished third in the Marin County Athletic League.

Awards Night honored three players. Angus McClure received the Rusty Ghilotti Award for Outstanding Lineman and the M.V.P. award. Marco Crivello received the Doctor Cook Award for Defense Player and the Paul A. Miller Award for Most Inspirational. Leonard Howard received the Big Play Award and The Most Outstanding Award.

Among those who made All-League were: Angus, First Team Center and First Team Defense Tackle; Marco, First Team Linebacker; Chris Scarmastra, First Team Defensive End; Drew Miller, First Team Defensive Back; Leonard, First Team Linebacker and Second Team Runningback; Gage Tuatagaloa, Second Team Offensive Tackle; Wade Fisher, First Team Kicker and Dave Brant, Honorable Mention Runningback.

Next year's team should be promising with twelve returning Varsity players, four of them, Roger Sweeney, Dave Brant, Leonard Howard and John Faiola, being starters.

Hanging Tough

From the opening game and through the tragic death of a truly outstanding friend and a great teammate, Joey Ciatti, the 1986 San Rafael Junior Varsity Bulldogs fought through a tough, emotionally draining season. The Dawgs pushed to finish the season at 4-4-1. Although the losses hurt, the team savored each win to its fullest.

The Bulldogs received outstanding performances from many players. Quarterback Milt Hymes tried his best to improve his team. Running back Aaron Lofrano fell just 22 short of 1000 yards rushing for the season. The offense was anchored by center Greg Bentley. The Bulldog "D" was led by linebackers Mark Edwards and Rafael Sakellariou, and the opposing quarterbacks were never treated kindly by defensive linemen Mario Cavagnola, Ted Kurkov, and Mark Paz. Place kicker Zack Nelson booted many a crucial kick for the Dawgs.

Only T.A. Romo, Justin Johnston, Aaron Lofrano, and Mark Paz received injuries during the season. All overcame and finished the season with gusto.

All in all, 1986 was a year that most of us will not forget. We had fun, even on Mondays . . .

Dedicated Learning

Freshmen football was a good learning experience. The team did fairly well, and even though we did not come in first place, we had some fun. The coaches helped us to improve our abilities, and pushed us to gain that extra yard. The members of the team had enthusiasm and helped each other through some of the longer practices and tougher games. We, the team members, would like to thank the coaches for their hard work and dedication. A special thanks to the cheerleaders and fans who stuck with us through both good weather and bad.

Side Out/Game Point

For the Varsity Volleyball team, the first day of school also meant the beginning of practice. With practically every player returning from a season of Junior League Volleyball, the team looked strong and ready for their upcoming season.

Early on in their pre-season games, the team won the Piner Tournament that hosted several good teams. Their season started slow for the Lady Bulldogs with some close and controversial matches. After breaking their losing streak, the team members worked together to prove that they were a team to be taken seriously.

This year the team was finally able to say that they defeated the T. L. team. The game was close until Tracey Tipping, one of the teams captains, served eight straight points to shoot them to a victory.

The Lady Bulldogs ended with a (12-4) record and in third place. In the first round of the playoffs, the team had to face their T.L. rivals. Though they tried their hardest, the girls couldn't pull off another victory over T.L.

Krista Wuertz was named first team all-league, Tracey Tipping and Fontaine Segerquist were named second team all-league, and Rosie Tuatagaloa received honorable mention. Special thanks to John Yee for the great photos he took.

WINNERS IN THEIR OWN WAY

The 1986 J.V. Volleyball team had a lot of talent and played well although the scores did not show it. There was a lack of experience with only two returning players from last year's team, Paula March and Rachel Villasenor. Exceptional talent was shown in Captain Paula March, Co-captain Stacy Newcomer, and Co-captain Rachel Villasenor. They are all still young and have many wins to come in the future.

'86 Team Gained Ground

The team, led by several experienced varsity players, posted an 8-6 record and a final standing of fourth in the league.

Senior Debbie LaFranchi (# 1 player) and Junior Alison Gourlay (# 4 player) captured the prestigious MCAL Doubles Title, ousting the Redwood Dynasty. They fought hard to win the pennant, but they were finally stopped in the semi-finals of the North Coast Section. Debbie, voted most valuable player, said, "Although we lost, maintaining our determination in North Coast to defeat our tougher opponents and to stop Redwood was a moral victory in itself."

The rest of the team helped San Rafael stay in MCALs. Rosanne Faul fought hard for every point. Barbara Fachini and Beth Barr dualed it out in doubles while Debbie Bush hung tough in singles. The team managed to remain a contender in MCALs throughout a tough season, taking pride in a tennis tradition which they helped build.

VARSITY BULLFROGS

This year's Varsity Waterpolo Team possessed an abundance of talent and the starters equaled, in ability, any of those more experienced teams in the league. This fact was especially impressive because the "Bullfrogs" were made up of Sophmores and Juniors. Leading the way were Adam Lupa, Dante Ricci, Scott Stewart, David Walther, and Brian Wilbur. Unfortunately Brian hurt his arm mid-season but turned to coaching a specially formed J.V. team.

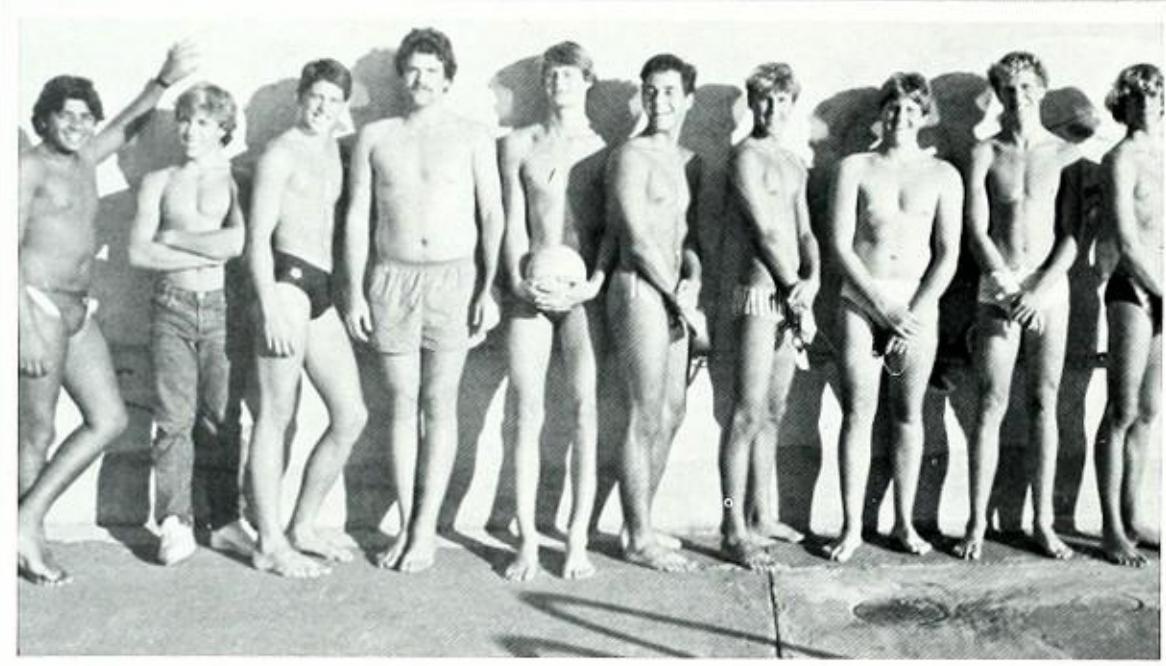

Toward the end of the season, the team faced its hardest challenge when their coach, Bill Ranney, died of a sudden heart attack. One player said, "During those few days, it was like we were a family. There was a feeling of sadness that can't be explained with words." The team held together and practiced under a new coach, Eric Beal, who many of the players already knew from past acquaintance. The ex-asst. T.L. coach did an impressive job arriving so late in the season and guiding the Bullfrogs through the last few weeks.

Overall, the quality of the Waterpolo team made for a commendable performance during the year, although circumstances dictated that their talent would not be reflected in their record. The future looks bright for this San Rafael team, so remember to take time for a closer look at them next year. You won't be disappointed.

Goalden Desires

High ambitions were the basis for the 1986 Boys' Varsity Soccer team. The Bulldog team, led by Captains Jody Lodge and Ricky Garner, played a hard-nosed, aggressive style of soccer. They stuck in there with all the competition, and never gave in when things looked grim. The team displayed a great deal of pride and determination while always keeping their Bulldog spirit alive.

A good game with the strong Terra Linda team greatly boosted their morale and was a high point in their season. The Bulldog team's ability to utilize the talent of their coach and team members made it a worthwhile season. They rallied at challenges from other league teams and put forth an effort that caused the opposing teams to want to rethink their gameplans.

BULLFROGS & POLYWOGS

In this year of learning, the new crop of bullfrogs developed skills in passing, shooting, and, of course, fouling. The ten new breeds had a lot of help from the nine experienced members of the team.

Since there was such a large turnout of girls this year, the J. V. team was divided into two teams.

The girls' team, the polywogs, played during the regular J. V. games, sometimes against the boys' teams, and occasionally against the more brutal girls' teams of some schools. The only two experienced girls, Elise Olmsted and Tracy Moss, led the team at the beginning of the season, but the other girls soon learned to play well. This year gave the girls' team a lot of good, needed, experience for the future.

The boys' team, led by Brian Chatard and Pat O'Donoghue, did well. This team, composed of sophomores and juniors, learned quite a bit about waterpolo and teamwork while enjoying themselves. This year provided them with the experience needed to play on a varsity team.

J.V. PLACES THIRD

The J.V. Soccer team started the season with high hopes, but after losing all of their pre-season games without scoring, the future didn't look too bright.

The season picked up when defensive stars Ryan O'Donell and Miguel Escobedo got into their grooves. The offensive talents of Sergio Jimenez and Raul Chacon soon became evident, and the team made quite a turn around.

Goal keeper Kevin McMullin was promoted to varsity at the beginning of the season, and Sothy "Miami" Sim took over. These outstanding athletes along with the rest of the players led the team to a third place standing in the M.C.A.L.

Varsity Girls Sweep MCAL!!!

It was a terrific season. The S.R.H.S. Cross Country Team was respected throughout the league, and honored at school.

Our Girls Varsity was the jewel in the MCAL crown, winning the pennant by a large margin over Redwood our nearest competitor. Coming in first at the Redwood Empire Championship and 9th at North Coast (M.O.C.) was the sweetest icing that could ever top a cake.

The frosh-Soph guys ignited hope for the future, finishing in 2nd place with a record of 6-1. They are expected to rejuvenate the ailing Varsity Boys Team which finished the season 1-6.

In spite of all the new found glory, the Bulldog Team remained faithful to the precepts which gained it success. Workouts, for the most part, were done willingly (except on Mondays). We knew they were our key to a championship team. After each victory, the attitude was, "Let's not get cocky—take one meet at a time. We were willing to do our best whether we got laurels or not. Thus the laurels were that much more gratifying.

The most important factor, though, were the friendships formed. The long drives in "The Van" after meets singing air-blues with muddy waters brought us all together. The guaranteed formula of success was listening to 12 reruns of "Roxanne" before a meet. A weekly frisbee game never failed to lighten our hearts and heels. The sense of spirit and victory made this 1986 season very memorable.

MCAL CHAMPS

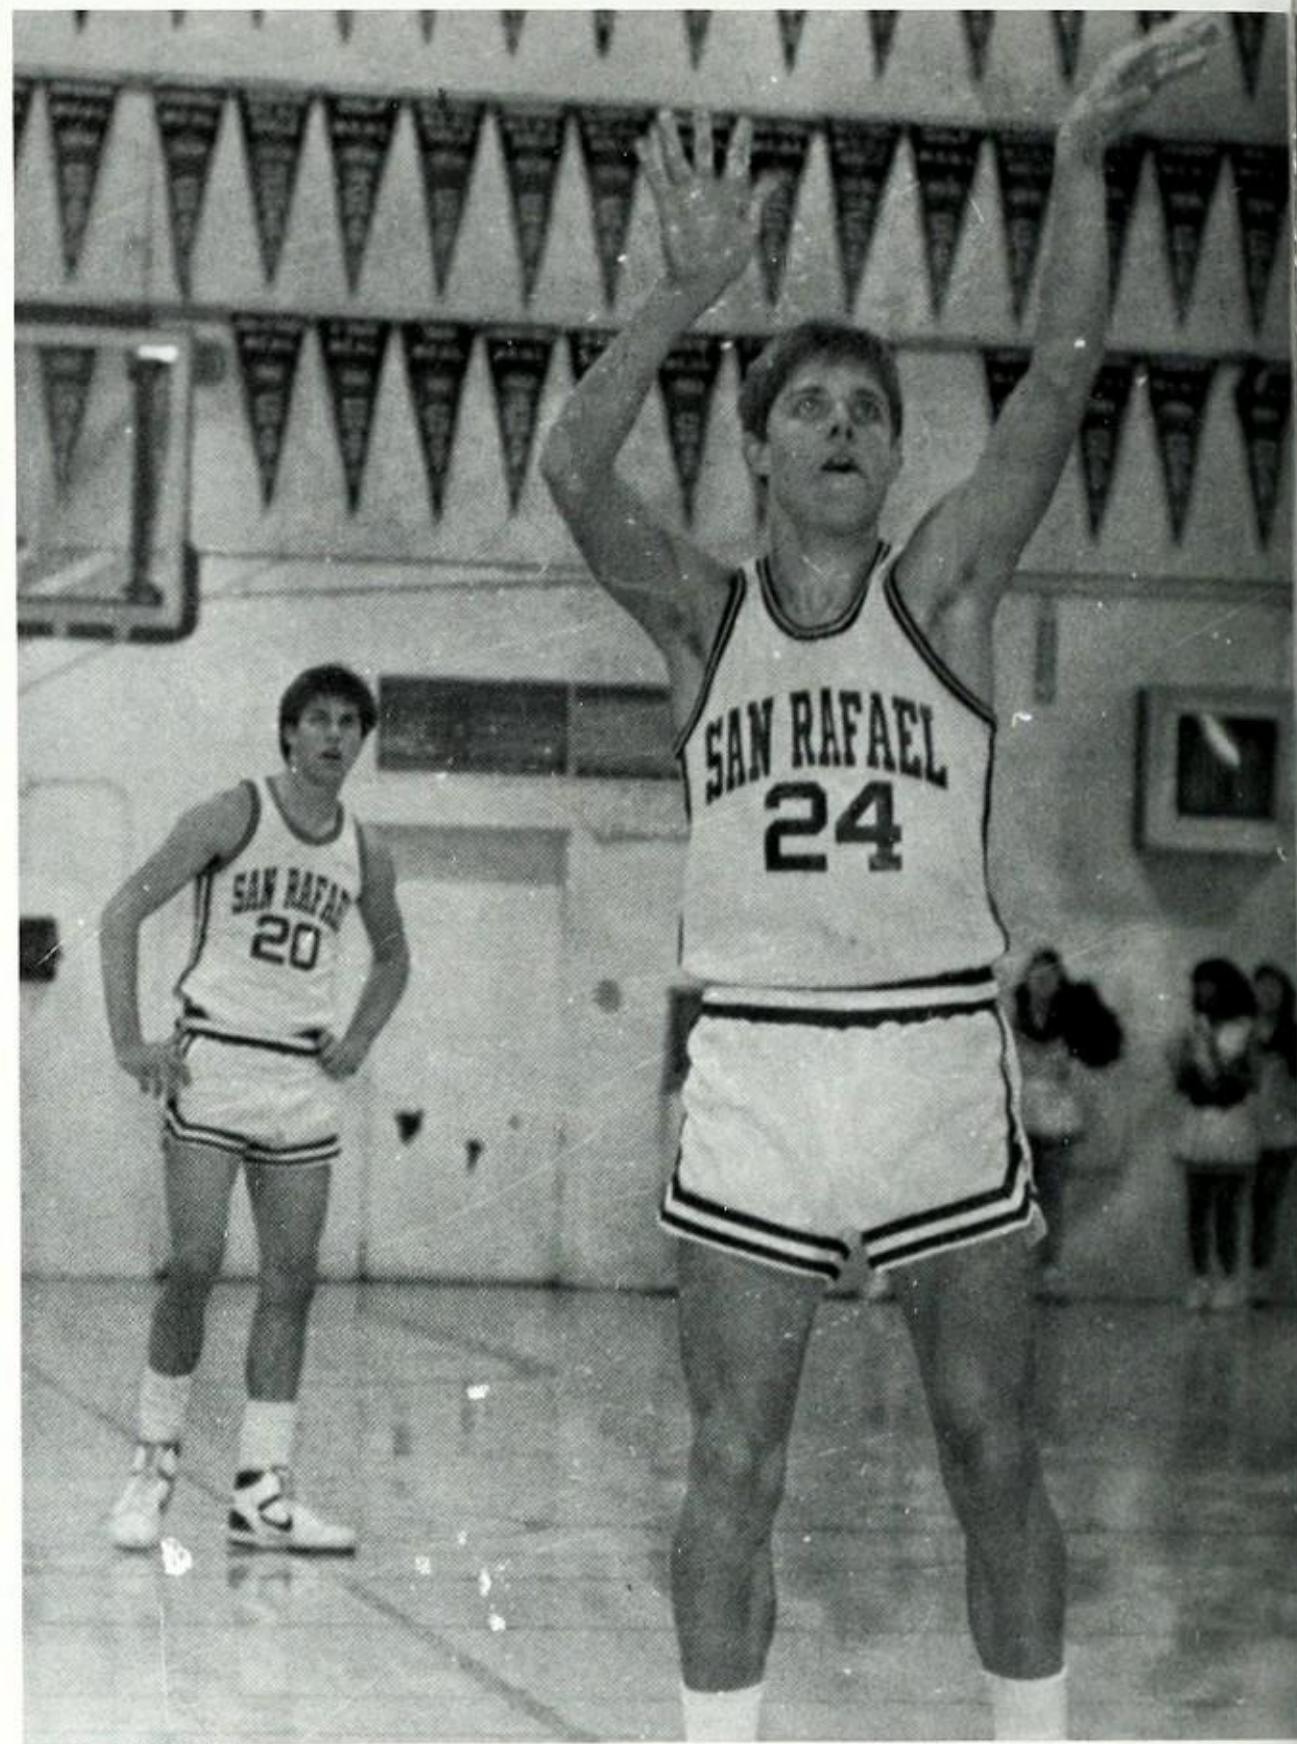

First Title in 13 Years

The Varsity won the MCAL Championship for the first time since 1974, exceeding all expectations. The team took pride in their ability to win the close games. Coming through in the clutch, they won numerous games in the waining moments by less than five points. The team was a tightly knit crew that always seemed to gel when things were tough. This was a banner year for the basketball program. As proof, for the first time in seven years the pennant was hanging someplace other than Drake.

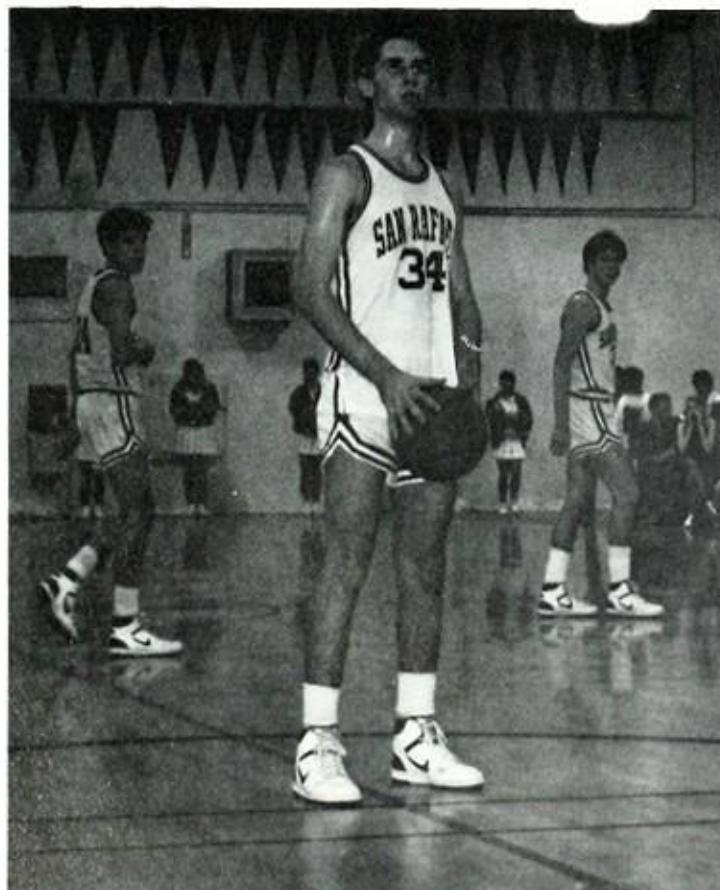

In the initial tournament at Jefferson High, they won by beating three traditionally strong city teams. The "San Francisco Examiner" ranked the Bulldogs seventh in the Bay Area.

After a rough spot in the middle of preseason play, the team peaked and won twelve straight during MCAL play. The team was #1 in MCAL and ranked #6 in the state for Division 2A Schools by "Cal Hi-Sports". No other San Rafael basketball team has been so highly touted.

The team's nucleus was stong with four returning lettermen: Bill Archer, leading scorer; Drew Miller, best defensive player; Andrew Fedeli, leading rebounder; and junior Bob Aldridge. Fresh faces up from the J.V. made the team one of the most balanced teams to play in the MCAL. Contributing greatly to the team were: seniors; Angus McClure, John Fitt, Rob Doherty, Justin Rinefort, Bill Keene, and juniors; Joe Ford and Mike Mannion.

Preparing to be next year's Varsity team, the Junior Varsity team showed talent and expertise. Coached by Mark Carlson, this young team practiced night after night on their layups, foul shots and general ball handling. They worked hard to help each other build their own personal strength and endurance. Each player's determination and effort proved to himself that all of that personal, hard work had helped the team as a whole to succeed.

With outstanding performances by Junior Brian Chatard along with Sophomores Roger Sweeney, Jason Blomquist, Andy Capdarest, Mike Reed, and Chet Aldridge, the J.V. team showed promise and potential. The Dawgs placed second in the Antioch J.V. Tournament with an All Tournament Selection being awarded to Andy Capdarest. Their league record of 11-3 put this year's team in second place in the MCAL.

Freshmen Score

The Freshmen Basketball season went well this year because of the team's effort and endurance. There were only two losses and one of them was a real upset. In their first game against Marin Catholic the Bulldogs were ahead by 22 points at the half, but unfortunately the Wildcats came back to win the game. The next meeting of the Dogs and the Cats proved that our team had what it took to win. "The coaches really pushed us which wasn't very fun at the time, but in the long run it helped us a lot," states Jason Tovani.

After the strong win over Marin Catholic at the end of the season, Coach Peter Mazon wished that the season had started with such a win, "The girls are playing like a team. All the work is finally paying off."

Lady Dogs Place Fifth in MCAL

The San Rafael Girls' Varsity Basketball team fought hard all season to end up in 5th place in the MCAL standings. The Lady Bulldogs were led by a new coach, Peter Mazon. Starting off the season with high expectations, he forced the girls to get into shape and realize their full potential. "He told me what I needed to work on and helped me until I got it right," says Captain Ellie Baldwin, who received an Honorable Mention in the MCAL. Debbie LaFranchi, who made second team, helped the Bulldogs with her high scoring and strong defense. "Peter called us the Twilight Zone, but by the middle of the season everything fell together and we started playing like a team." Krista Wuertz and Carolina Katz provided the height on the team and dominated both the offensive and defensive boards. Rosanne Faul and Carolyn Higgins made up the rest of the starting five and by bringing the ball up the court. The bench this year consisted of sophomores and juniors. Coach Peter says, "It will be great to have the bench back next year. They are our future, and I'm very optimistic about the seasons that are still to come." The seniors wish him and the future teams the best of luck.

The Close Finish

There are 10 seconds left in the game. The score is 29 for the Dawgs and 30 for the opponent. Before we inbound the ball we call a timeout. The strategy is to get them to foul. They don't foul. We are forced to take the outside shot. We miss, and the game is over with San Rafael losing again. That was the way 6 of our 12 games ended. So though the stats aren't that impressive, (2-12), we will be back next year, with a stronger, more experienced, and, more importantly, a winning team.

An inexperienced team coached by an inexperienced coach is never expected to do very well. This team, usually lost by only one basket. The players improved dramatically throughout the season. Of these, Maurean S. (M.V.P.), Ali Wagner (Most Improved), Carmina C. (Best Offensive), Elena W. (Best Defensive), and Alisa G. showed the most spirit, strength, and ability. Pinning Experience

The newest sport to be added to San Rafael's "Accomplished" list is wrestling. Through the years the team has gotten bigger and a lot better.

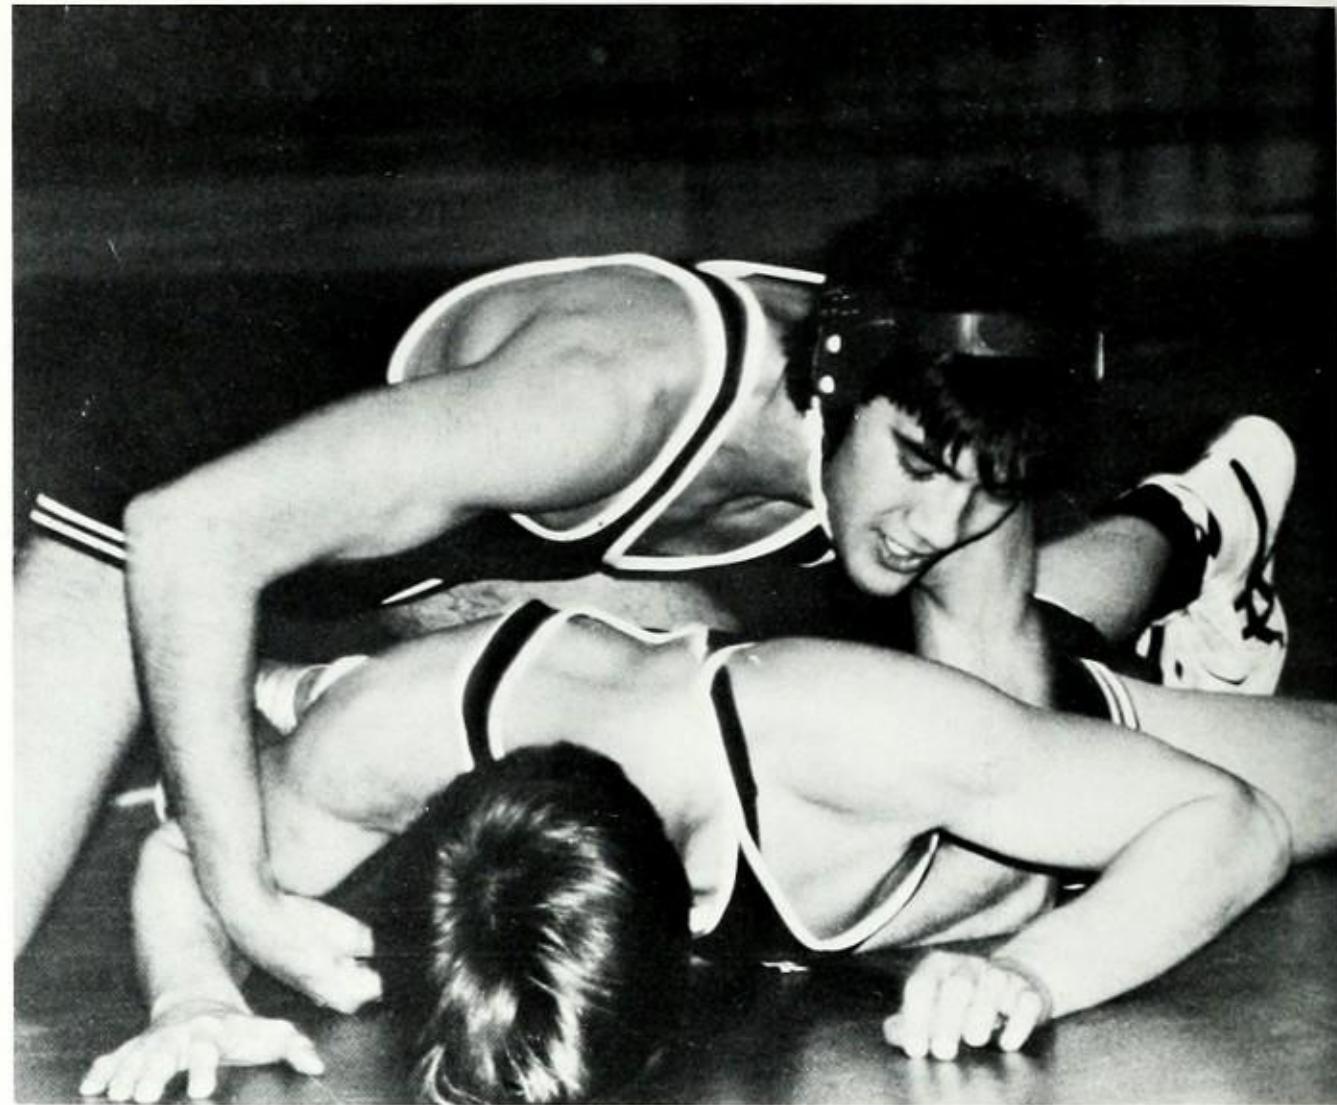

With only two returning Varsity team members, the team consisted of mostly good but inexperienced wrestlers. New coach Larry Lack helped the team get that experience that was needed to have a winning season. He taught them that strength wasn't that important just as long as one had balance.

Juniors Tak Horiuchi and Luis Quezada both made into the North Coast Championships. Expect a lot from both of them in the future. Other team members to keep an eye out for are Carlos Escobedo, Rafael Sakallariou, Ryan O'Donnell, Greg Burgess, Mark Paz, Dave Moses, John Matocq, Dean Clements, and Geoff Revill.

The athletes not only surprised the rest of the MCAL teams, but they also surprised themselves.

In 1988 the team is largely favored to win the MCAL title with all returning starters except one. San Rafael Wrestling would like to thank Bobby Contini for four years of exceptional wrestling. We'll miss you.

OUT OF SCHOOL SPORTS

My name is Tracey Tipping. My love for horses has grown since the age of 5. My father had told me of his past experiences with horses and he greatly influenced me to break into the horse world. I started at the bottom, working for lessons and a chance to ride. Gradually, as my experience grew, my parents felt that I would be responsible enough to handle a horse of my own. My first horse meant more to me than anything; he was my best friend and teacher. His name was Sugar Reed III and we competed together in western horse shows. Together we went as far as we could and, although I didn't want to, I finally had to sell him.

My next horse was a complete surprise, he was the first horse I looked at and it was love at first sight. He was two years old when we bought him and I will always think of him as my "little baby". I've grown a lot and so has my horse, Wild Scorpion. I've worked for a horse trainer for many years now and have gained the kind of experience you can't buy. I compete with Scorpion in cutting (a competition where your horse is judged on how well he can keep one cow separated from the herd). My future hopes are to take the horse with me to college, but I haven't discussed that with my parents yet. No matter what happens, I will always cherish the memories horses have given me.

Peter Brandelius works at his skateboarding techniques.

My name is Lynetta Rae Simmons. I am an orange belt right now, and will probably be a purple belt by the time the yearbook comes out. I have mastered a series of techniques (defensive movements that enable you to free yourself from an attack), rolls, falls, blocks, punches, stances, and kicks. I have also learned two katas (pre-arranged imaginary fighting sequences). I have only studied for a short period of time, but I like what I am doing and hope to be an instructor someday as part-time work.

Hi! I'm Diana Abbott. I'm a Junior originally from Carson City/Lake Tahoe, Nevada. I've been living away from my family and home for two years now. I came to San Rafael to dance at the Marin Ballet School. I study ballet, tap, jazz, and modern dance. I've been dancing since I was three years old, but I didn't get into it "seriously" or "fulltime" until I was twelve. I've done shows in: Carson City, Reno, Lake Tahoe, and Las Vegas, Nevada; on a Caribbean cruise with June Allyson and Andrea Mcardle (who was the original "Annie"), and most recently with the Marin Ballet in both "Nutcracker '85 and '86", "Celebration '86" and numerous "Footlights" productions. I also danced in last year's "Red and White Calvacade".

I've received various awards for dancing, from awards of excellence and achievement in school and summer workshop awards to the achievement of "honors" on a Royal Academy of Dance Exam.

I also enjoy acting and singing and I plan to go to college and major in theatre arts/drama. I'd like to be on "Broadway" and perform on a cruise ship, and someday I'll be extremely successful and filthy rich, hopefully soon! For now my main goals are to get better grades, continue dancing and just enjoy living in California.

Elizabeth Hirni and June Mujaki are both Class III optional gymnasts.

Elizabeth has taken gymnastics for three and a-half years and has competed for three years as a compulsory gymnast; at a major competition she placed first on the beam excercise.

June has taken gymnastics for eight years and, like Elizabeth, has competed as a compulsory gymnast for three. She has consistently won top awards on the parallel bars, receiving scores as high as 9.25.

Both girls are currently working on optional routines for the upcoming season.

Behind the Scenes

Part of the enjoyment of football games for many people, was the enthusiastic spiritleaders cheering to the crowd from the sidelines.

The spiritleaders worked hard to boost the spirit and morale of the school, the audience, and most importantly the team.

The girls put in many hours of individual practice, as well as practicing together. All their effort and practice showed in the quality of their performances.

There were times when you saw the girls practicing until after the football team had finished their practice.

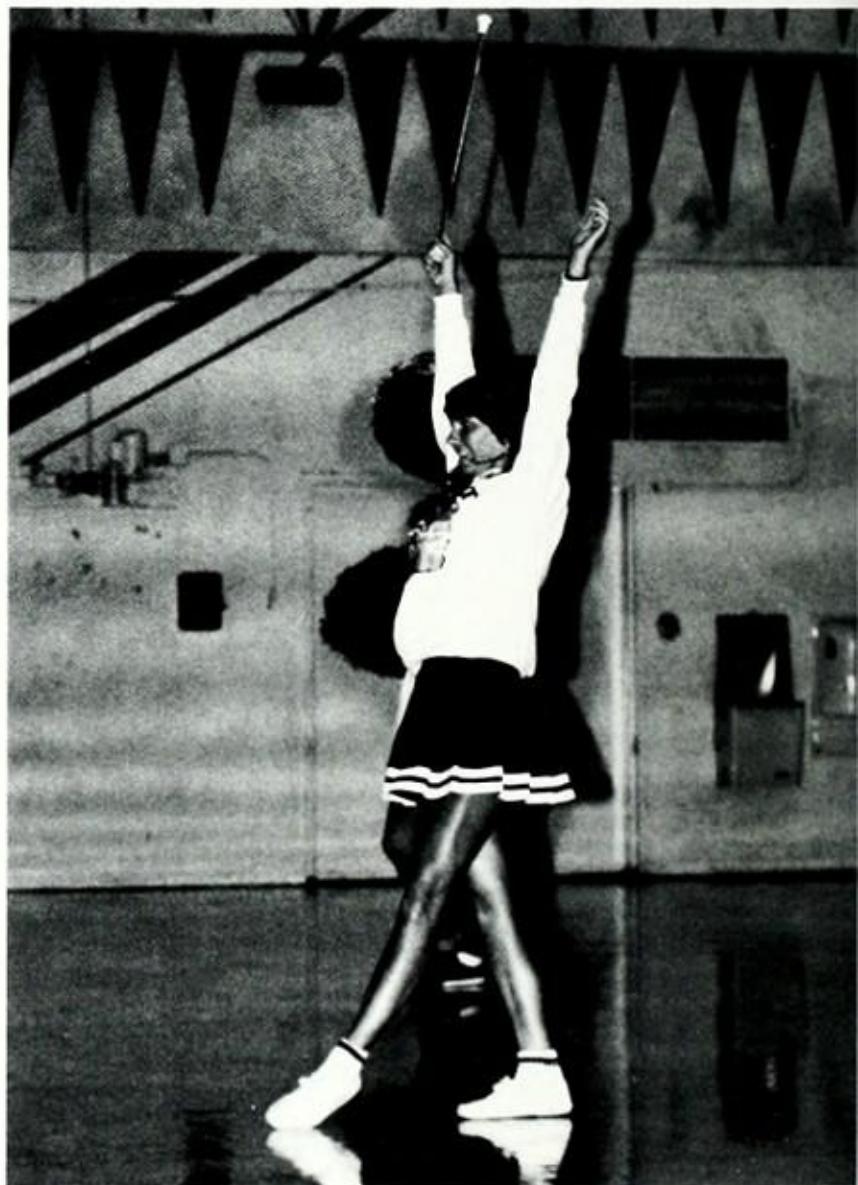

They had a lot of dedication and pride in what they did, and it definitely showed in their work.

SPIRITLEADERS

The Dedication of Basketball Spiritleaders

The crowds during basketball season had so much fun because the spiritleaders really knew how to promote the spirit. The spiritleaders were enjoying themselves so much, and it showed.

They spent hours of time practicing together after school, into the night, and on weekends. They gave up a lot of time and energy to do the best that they could for their performances. They put a lot of effort into bringing out the crowd's enthusiasm.

Most importantly though, was their commitment to helping the team do their best. The team appreciated them and so did the crowd. This year's basketball spiritleaders were the best that San Rafael had for years.

Top Row - Wendy Witherspoon, Nini Grabis, Heather Paraskos. Bottom Row - Debbie Bush, Kathy Troyan.

I Need a Number Two!

The Academic Decathlon is a team made up of six members who prepare themselves for almost a full year before they take the two tests that will test their academic strength. Our team, however, consisting of Oliver Ewald, Jody Lodge, Joy Schaber, Doug Fischer, Tracy Bagely, and Bonnie Johnson took up the challenge of studying three days in advance. With the lack of time that was given to the students their placement in the final standings wouldn't seem to be too high, but thanks to Bonnie they came in third place in the Super Quiz, which was a test on the Constitution of the United States. They were a dedicated team who put their all into the Decathlon and they all became good friends after the three day cram session.

Though they all turned their minds around to answer the questions, Mr. Stevens helped them come out on top.

The Constant Strive for Success

Being a member of the California Scholarship Federation is something that every student works hard for and many accomplish that goal. Being a member in CSF is a constant strive, because every student can agree that it's hard to keep up those perfect grades.

Members provided volunteer tutoring at lunch time for anyone who was seeking that extra edge. The members also provided tutoring after school for "small" fees.

A banquet honoring high-achievers was held at the end of the year for the members of CSF.

The culmination of club activities was the field trip in May - a welcome break!

In all, being a member of CSF can be a very productive, rewarding, and fun experience, not to mention the scholarships one can receive!

French Club

"The club means a lot to me. We always laugh and have a good time, no matter what happens." - PRES. CAROLINA KATZ

This year the French Club did a lot of things that were both fun and beneficial to the community. The members went to French movies, a production of The Little Prince, raised money to buy Thanksgiving Dinners for St. Anthony's Dining Room, and sang songs at convalescent hospitals for Christmas, Valentine's Day, and Easter.

The members were always willing to give up some of their free time to help the people around them. The year ended with the traditional International Dinner, a pot-luck dinner with all three language clubs. All in all, it was a great year.

Quebec Club

"Thanks to Mme. Goff-Tuttle, this club is a unique experience for the students at San Rafael High. She's really sneaky. We really learn while we think we're just having fun." - PRES. SCOTT STEWART

Although there was no San Rafael-Quebec Exchange this year, the club was actively raising money and preparing for next year's exchange.

The annual Clean-a-thon was a fun success that cleaned the city as well as earning money for the club. The chocolate sales and the first Bowl-a-Thon also helped to unite these individuals into the closely knit Paris-Quebec Club of San Rafael High.

We are all looking forward to next year's exchange, and we're already working toward our goals.

German Club

"I always had a great time. It was marvelous!" - PRES. JOHN SCHWEITZER

The German club has been an active club this year. We made our traditional sale of gummi bears and was very successful. The club got along very well with the Terra Linda German Club when the two clubs accompanied each other to dinner at Schroders and the Buckeye. After dinner the clubs spent the evening on the town or went out for ice cream and some bowling. The club also participated in the events of several holidays with new and relative ideas for fun. The German Club shall continue its traditions and fun with the welcome future classes.

Los Picaros

"Nachos Maria are the best." -
PRES. ALISON ZIOMEK AND
TED HARDING

The Spanish club, better known as Los Picaros, is among the most popular clubs of San Rafael High. With Senor Carasco as advisor, it is a very active club oriented to the Spanish language.

Among the activities that the club takes part in are Homecoming, Foreign Language Week, and usually the Holiday Fair. In Fact, our major fundraiser is the selling of Cascarones-(confetti eggs).

This year, Los Picaros has gone several times to La Tqueria. It is the favorite place to have a fine Mexicain meal.

This year's officers in the club were Alison Ziomek, Jeannie Cuthbert, Jason Cheu, Ted Harding, and Baltazar Guzman.

Latin Club

"Save your pennies for the Latin Club bake sale." - PRES. BOB MCCLURE

The Latin Club returned in full force to enjoy yet another successful year. Backed by the largest and most enthusiastic membership to date, The Latiners initiated many new activities in 1986-87 as well as holding traditional favorites like Big Dog Day and the Ed Cunningham Birthday Party, now in its seventh running year.

Concentrating on its main aim of promoting the Latin culture, the club continues to hold its weekly meetings and bake sales, as well as other Toga-related activities.

International Club

"We hope to see each other next year and have as much or even more fun." - PRES. VERONICA DUARTE

SRHS is composed of a variety of students from different cultures and nationalities. This year they got together and formed the International Club.

It started the year participating in the homecoming parade and winning the first prize with the French Club. Next, a pot luck dinner was organized and parents, teacher, students, and community members spent an evening together and had the chance to know about each other.

Participating in the multicultural fair, the International Club sold hot dogs and potstickers during the foreign language week. With these sales the club raised money for our trip to Angel Island in which we had so much fun.

RaRavas

"To have been a part of Ra Ravas has given me a feeling of accomplishment all of its members should be proud of." - PRES. STEPHANIE KIRBY

Ra Ravas is an organization designed to contribute funds and services to the community. This past year Ra Ravas has been a part of many events. The club donates not only its money, but also its time. Ra Ravas members actively participated in bake sales, Homecoming, community activities, and school functions.

Ra Ravas is made up of about forty girls, all interested in doing the most for their community. Throughout the year all the clubs' members have become close, both inside and outside of club activities. We, as a club, have been successful in achieving our goals.

Drama Club

"On stage, you need to be creative, be imaginative, be crazy, but just never be yourself." - PRES. MICHAEL PETERS

Drama is not only a means of entertainment, but also an important part of the culture of our school. This past year, for the Homecoming Parade, the Drama Club did scenes from the musical "Peter Pan"- by building a pirate's ship float, dressing up in costumes and performing with music and lights. We also sponsored the Halloween Costume Contest and produced "An Evening of One-Act Plays," in which students took to the stage in performing comedy acts . Our fund raisers have included delivering Valentine's Day flowers, and selling refreshments at the musical and fall play. Part of the profit we made this year went towards installing a new lighting system in the Little Theatre.

F.A.C.T.S.

"Keep tie-dying and tailgaiting and may shifting phases of F.A.C.T.S. never lead to a dead-end." - PRES. MAUREEN MOCO AND BETSY ROBERTS

This has been the third year and by far the most successful of F.A.C.T.S. We started the year off with an outrageous tie-dye/tailgaiting party which as a result produced our 1986-87 official t-shirts. This was a change from our famous sporty shirt, but it was only a sign of our members fun-loving and open-minded personalities. Of course the homecoming parade was one of the highlights among our many tailgaiting adventures.

The future of F.A.C.T.S. is looking bright. With many new and enthusiastic members we are hoping to branch out to other Marin Schools in the near future.

"Us jocks want an association to call our own." - PRES. TONY MARKWICK AND ANGUS MCCLURE

The San Rafael Block Letterman's Club was an organizational entity of its own in the 1986-1987 school year. Brought back to prominence after a five year layoff. Running in rigid competition with the women of RaRavas, S.R. Block, with advisor Ed Cunningham, stood on its own, being one of the main sponsoring supporters of the spring turnout and relating events.

The pride of the club though was its non-biased nature. Adopting an "open-door" policy at meetings, S.R. Block welcomed the membership of any male letterman, whether he be a tennis player, swimmer, waterpolo player, or even a football player. It's this kind of non-discriminatory mentality the club will strive to hold to ensure the organization's success.

WHAT! Not Another Deadline!

"For the last time! Pos. N belongs under Pos. 2 and it agrees with Pos. Q. GOT IT?" -EDITOR FONTAINE SEGERQUIST

The day that I officially found out that I would be the "Editor" for this book I began to panic because my mind was a total blank. Every creative idea that I had went into last year's book. Luckily, when I returned from Yearbook West, a great camp for us yearbookers, I had the entire book in my mind. My biggest task was trying to relay my ideas down to my "little worker bees". Slowly, from that great Herff Jones crossword puzzle to the constant instructions, the staff progressed. I can truly sympathize with them because I remember not understanding a single word that Mr. Mills had said last year.

It's really hard to describe the feeling I got when I saw people really working hard to finish their pages. It showed me that they really wanted to have a great book. I could tell by the looks on their faces that they were pleased to see their work done because when the proofs came back they all kept saying to me, 'Hey, that came out great,' or 'So that's what you meant, Fontaine.'

One thing, I can easily agree with last year's editor, is that I never want to hear my name said out loud again. I always enjoy helping someone out on his/her layout, but not when five people all desperately needed my help at the same exact time. It got a bit hectic.

Thinking back to all the long hours after school, even the couple of days over Winter Vacation, I don't see how we ever managed. I, personally, owe those special nighttime radio guys, and they know who they are, for constantly feeding me throughout the nights. How they ever managed to put up with all my scrounging around for food I'll never know, but I thank them!

Everybody on the staff deserves a special thanks from me because if it wasn't for them I would have been in here an awfully long time.

ANNE McCARTHY: You always gave a helping hand when I needed one the most. Let's not ever have to spend another night checking over photos, even though some of them did look pretty funny!

ELLIE BALDWIN: It took a lot out of us to make all your people understand that we liked the layouts our way. You've opened my eyes to a lot of things, Ellie. Keep on the lookout for those fourteens, okay? Oh yeah, my name's Fontaine, not Vontaine!

SARAH HELLER: I hope you enjoy yourself here next year because I can't wait to see what you do to try to top me! I'm only kidding. Who would have ever thought that little ol' Sarah would be the next "BIG CHEESE". Good Luck.

MICHAEL RIETH: Can that be a good photo? Well, I guess you took that, right Mike. Honestly, without your help at organizing a fantastic photo staff I don't know where this book would have gone. I expect to see you shooting photos for Sports Illus. real soon, maybe even the swim suit edition.

MIYA CLARK: Where in the world did you come up with that Faculty section? Even though I only got to see you once or twice a week in class, it was well worth the wait. I want your green dress when you get tired of it, okay?

ANNETTE MILLS: Even though almost the whole class flaked out when it came to finding you some ads for your pages, you and Michaela did a great job at making them just as stylish as the rest of the book. The position of business manager was a difficult responsibility, and I thank you for taking it when I threw it at you!

TIFFANY HORTON: Well, what more can I say, but who are you going to get to help you with your French next year during Yearbook when I graduate? Nice job, but don't think that now that I'm gone you can start making your moves on Jim. I'll be watching you!

ELISE OLMSTED: Besides wasting all that printing paper on "Mr. Wonderful," I have nothing but good things to say to you. Oh, I forgot about all the times I had to drive you home, but that's okay, too. You put in a lot of your free time into finishing your layouts and that helped out so much. Please sign up next year, they're going to need you!

LARISSA KOLOBOFF: When I needed someone to take over the Student Life section you were there waiting with open arms. You put together a wonderful creativity section, and helped whenever I felt like giving up and throwing everything away.

Fontaine
Segerquist*

3. "Sybil, you don't have to focus a one-step camera!" camera genius Amy Bren informs her fellow yearbookian.

4. Now you know that this has to be a staged shot because there's no way Elise would ever be caught working, especially during class.

5. Taking their M & M break during a hectic day of cropping a photo and writing a witty caption like this one are Tracey Tipping and "wanna-be editor" Anne McCarthy.

New Breed Speaks Up

"The future of this nation rests in our hands. Scary thought." -EDITOR MATT COLEMAN

What do you get when you throw together a class compiled primarily of "cub" reporters with a primarily "cub" editorial board? Why, you get the best _____ paper ever to hit the halls of SRHS! Well, at least that's what the professionally unbiased Editor said. This year's Red and White made its name as a paper dedicated to truth, justice, and the American Way of life. Seriously though, the paper made many technical as well as journalistic innovations during the year, sticking to a strict code of ethics while still generating interesting copy. Volume 78 of the Red and White was the foundation on which a new breed of high school journalism will be built.

Now in Stereo!

"KSRH was an experience that I will always cherish." -PROGRAM DIRECTOR JODI PINCKNEY

KSRH is a student-run, non-profit radio station. The students run the station through patrons and donations. This year KSRH was able to purchase a new transmitter which brought the signal from almost 10 watts to almost 15 watts. KSRH can now be heard in stereo!

Aside from the technical side of the station, KSRH provided its operators with a sense of family. Everyone helped each other with learning procedures, and the group as a whole was a social group for those who enjoyed music from many different aspects.

President of Creative Arts Committee - MR. SCOTT HAYES

The Creative Arts Committee was a group of staff, students and parents. A way to provide a series of experiences for students to increase awareness and appreciation of music, drama, and art performed by their fellow students as well as professionals was their goal this year.

The annual fundraiser was the "Red and White Cavalcade" which involved staff as well as student talent. Also this year many other special presentations by the Yoplait Mime, String Quartet and many other talented guests.

A.S.B

"Changes in this year's A.S.B. compared to past cabinets have been phenomenal. It's been a delight to work with a group of individuals so dedicated to bettering what's already been." - PRES. TONY MARKWICK

The 1986-87 A.S.B. cabinet will go down in the almanac as the one who began "to turn the tide" in SRHS student government. This past year saw many changes occur in policy, goals, and actions within the A.S.B. and the results plainly speak for themselves.

The spark for this revolution came in the presence of new principal and cabinet advisor Mr. Nando Llacuna. With Mr. Llacuna's guidance and support, such unheard of events like a free, outdoor, first-week-of-school dance was possible. Further innovations came later in the year with the A.S.B. purchase of a sophisticated, $3,500 sound system, making it possible to accommodate our own school dances, and related events, as well as furnishing public address and music for home basketball games.

The 1986-1987 Year in Review

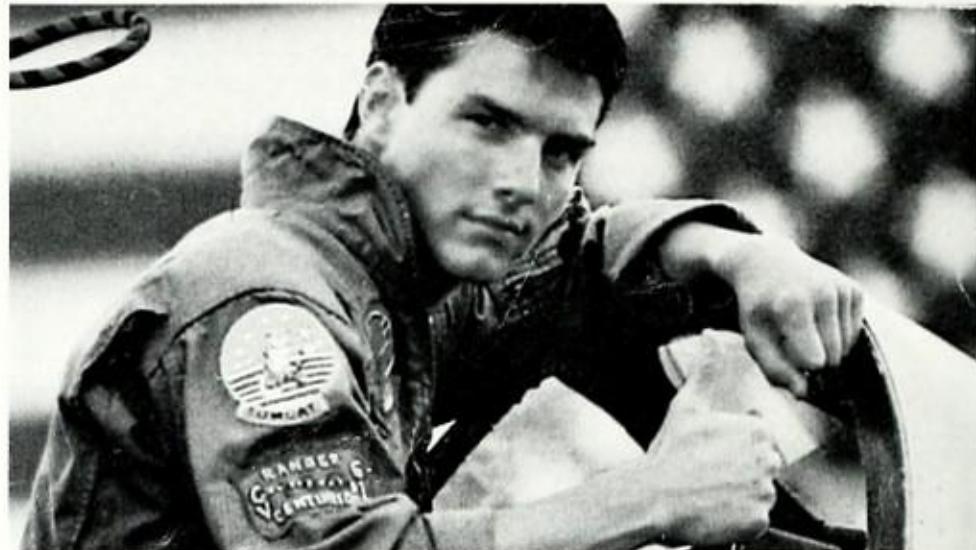

A Day of Pomp and Parade

"Independence Day ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires, and illuminations from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forward forever more." -John Adams, July 3, 1776

1986's celebration of Independence was as full of pomp and pageantry as any one celebration may be. The year of 1986 not only commemorated our nation's 210th anniversary, it was also the year of Our Lady of Liberty's 100th birthday. The 30 million dollar celebration extravaganza came complete with 400 Elvis impersonators and a fireworks display large enough to stabilize that industry for years to come.

The Statue of Liberty has long been a symbol of American freedom to all those who approach our shores. The Statue, like any other 100 year old welcoming party, was showing some signs of wear. The Statue's restoration was a joint effort between French and American engineers, costing well over 40 million dollars.—by Annette Mills and Michaela Cummings

Year's Top Movie - Top Gun

Cross Country Title

One September day a few years back, three sophomores were warming up for their first cross-country practice. One wistfully broke the silence, "could you imagine winning the pennant our senior year?" A distant dream at the time, since there hadn't even been a complete team for years. Anyway, the thought remained at the front of their heads during that practice, the next summer, and the next year. In November of 1986, Carolyn Higgins, Mary Mankin, and Kathy Troyan (now seniors) joined up with Carolina Allen (a sophomore) and Sandy Deasy (a junior) to walk all over the defending league champions, and take the MCAL and North Coast Section championships for the first time in history.

The Brown & Blue pennants that now grace the gym wall will forever remind us of the close ties that bound them and their coaches Jim Meyers and Ron Newstat. The hard work that they endured, and the glory that was worth all their waiting.—by Kathy Troyan and Carolina Allen

State of the Nation

Ronald Reagan would rather have forgotten the winter of 1986, but nobody would let him (though he seemed to forget just about everything else). His presidency hit the rocks in early December: the Democrats had just re-captured the Senate and the sordid details of the arms-for-hostages deal with Iran had come to light. Things began to heat up, and the former actor began to stumble on his lines. After a few staff shuffles, though, the Gipper was able to right his sinking ship of state.

Outside of the Mid-East blunder, one of the hottest news topics of the year was the much-publicized war on drugs. First Lady Nancy Reagan started her own program to combat this plague, but, despite the rhetoric, she couldn't quite convince her husband to help the cause with some Federal fundings. Also dominating the headlines was the finishing spread of AIDS into the heterosexual community and the paranoia that followed it. Like the drug problem, though, people saw fit to talk the subject to death, rather than concentrating on solving it.

The year was full of stories like these, and how the present problems are addressed will determine the course of the nation for years to come.—by Matt Coleman

The 50th vs. Senior Ball

On May 25, 1987, the construction was completed on one of the greatest, and most beautiful, bridges in the world. Although we usually take the Golden Gate Bridge for granted, several men lost their lives building it, and millions of people come every year, from all over the world, to see it. Considered one of the seven man-made wonders of the world, its 50th Anniversary was definitely a cause for celebration, except among the Seniors of San Rafael High. The bridge's anniversary celebration date conflicted with that of the Senior Ball which was to be held in San Francisco. The conflict instigated several class meetings and votes interspersed with excessive complaining.

The problem originated with the proposal to close the bridge from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. for a celebration that would go on during that time. The traffic would have been abominable and all restaurants and limos would have been reserved. After much deliberation on the subject, the Seniors finally decided on moving the Ball to one of the optional days that was given to them by the Galleria. The new date was then April 24th, and things seemed to finally be over. It would seem that fate was truly against them when, only a few days after the final date switch, it was officially announced that, in fact, the bridge would not be closed as originally thought.

Overall, the Golden Gate's 50th anniversary was a celebration to look forward to, but it was not worth the troubles it caused concerning the Senior Ball.—by Anne McCarthy

An Unforgettable Season

For the first time since 1974 the Boy's Varsity Basketball team advanced beyond the MCAL playoffs. The hoopsters were surprisingly impressive in their North Coast Section appearance. They advanced easily through these playoffs with wins over Del Norte, the Humboldt League champion, Analy, the Sonoma County League champs, and the MCAL rival Drake. These three wins advanced the 'Dawgs into a title match-up with De Anza, ranked #2 in the state by Cal-Hi Sports. The Bulldog's pulled out a nine point win for the NCS Championship. Two San Rafael athletes recorded recognition for their play in the tournament, named all-tourney were Bill Archer and Andrew Fedeli.

The team was then seeded second in the Northern California tournament, playing the first round game against Livingston. They provided easy prey, and a 60-50 victory was the result. The semi-final match-up at the Arco Arena in Sacramento, Aptos High of Santa Cruz proved to be just a little too much for the Bulldog's smaller line up. Aptos pulled away during the final minute to refute San Rafael's chance at a Northern California Championship. Bill Archer was subsequently rewarded for his fine play with another All-Tournament award.

Hit Performers: Jennifer Losee, Mike Dederian, & Phaedra Bell in "Bells are Ringing"

The tragic deaths of Joe Ciatti, Bill Ranney, and Adrian Gutierrez during the school year were unexpected and will never be forgotten. An athletic scholarship fund was established in memory of Joe. The tree planted in the main courtyard outside the LA Building will stand in memory of Bill Ranney.

*Bill,
You cared so much about your students.
You were the needle in the haystack and will never be forgotten by the ones you touched.
I miss you, Bill!
I'm sorry I never showed you I could achieve in my studies.
You pushed me so much, and now you're gone.
Now I must do it myself, for there is no person that can take your place.
Your memory will live within my heart and soul forever.
I'll never forget the way we used to joke around in class and at practice.
It will never be the same when I joke around with others.
Rest in peace!*
